Jones on Stand In Hughes Probe

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON, July 30 (INS) — Jesse Jones, former federal loan administrator, was called today to tell the Brewster committee what orders he received from the White House in 1942 to finance the Hughes-Kaiser flying boat.

The multi-millionaire Texan, whom the late President Roosevelt dismissed to name Henry A. Wallace as Commerce Secretary, was reported by committee sources as anxious to explain his position in the financing of Howard Hughes' government plane contract.

It was understood Jones would testify he acted on instructions from the White House when he ordered that Hughes and Henry J. Kaiser be given $18,000,000 of government funds to build three experimental cargo planes opposed by War Production Board officials and the armed forces.

MARTIN ON QUIZ LIST

Other witnesses scheduled for today included Glenn L. Martin, Baltimore aircraft manufacturer; Adm. John H. Powers, former Navy aeronautics chief, and Robert Lovett, former assistant secretary of war for air, now undersecretary of state.

Meanwhile Noah Dietrich, executive vice-president of the Hughes Tool Co., informed the Senate group that John Meyer, publicity man for Hughes, will be unable to appear for testimony on Thursday.

The committee wants to ask Meyer about reports he staged lavish parties for government and military officials at the time Hughes was beginning work on government contracts.

Dietrich said Meyer is in Paris and has been unable to obtain air transportation to appear as a witness this week. He said Meyer wants to be heard on Monday.

The role of Jones in the cargo plane contract was brought up during testimony by Kaiser, West Coast shipbuilder, and his vice president, Chad Calhoun.

LEAHY OKAYED PLAN

Calhoun told the committee that Adm. William D. Leahy, chief of staff to the late President Roosevelt, personally approved the Kaiser plan to build three flyboats on condition that it not interfere with the "offensive military program."

Sen. Ferguson (R.) of Michigan chairman of the subcommittee holding the hearing, announced that Leahy and Gen. H. H. Arnold, former Army Air Forces chief, and possibly other members of the joint chiefs of staff, may be asked to testify.

Calhoun said he and Kaiser were taken to the White House to see Leahy on Sept. 10, 1942, by War Production Board Chairman Donald Nelson. Upon leaving the White House, he related, Nelson said they could get the funds either through Jesse Jones, the Maritime Commission, or "some other source."

As it turned out, the $18,000,000 for the project was obtained on authorization of Jones from the Defense Plant Corp., then being run by John W. Snyder, now Treasury secretary.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, July 30 (INS)—Glenn L. Martin testified today that Henry J. Kaiser told him in 1942 that he could get an order for 500 mare flying boats unavailable to other aircraft manufacturers and "make a nice profit" if the industry would join in the effort. Martin, veteran Baltimore aircraft manufacturer, told the Senate war investigating committee that he refused Kaiser's proposal because he was then acting under Army-Navy production orders.

Dutch Forces Land on Sumatra

BATAVIA, Java, July 30 (AP)—The Dutch, engaged since July 20 against the Indonesian republic, today reported a new amphibious operation near the northern end of Sumatra, big island northwest of Java.

An army communique said Dutch forces swarmed ashore from landing craft at Loeboepakam, 36 miles southeast of Medan, near Sumatra's north coast and burst eastward from Medan into a rich agricultural region.

Hughes Charges Brewster Offered Deal to Kill Probe

LOS ANGELES, July 30 (INS)—Howard Hughes charged today that Sen. Brewster (R.) of Maine offered to call off his investigation of Hughes' wartime contracts if the millionaire aircraft designer agreed to merge TWA (Trans World Air Lines) with Juan Trippe's Pan-American Airways.

Hughes demanded Brewster give the public the facts concerning his "abortive attempt to intimidate and coerce me."

The proposed deal was urged by Brewster at a private luncheon which Brewster arranged at the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, in February, 1947, Hughes said.

Hughes declared in a new statement:

"I demand that Sen. Brewster stop beating around the bush and give the public the facts concerning his abortive attempt to intimidate and coerce me by offering to call off this investigation of my airplane projects if I would agree to merge TWA (Trans-World Airline) with Juan Trippe's Pan-American Airways.

PROMISE TO TRIPPE

"I direct these four questions at Sen. Brewster and demand an answer:

"1—At lunch in your suite at the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C., did you or did you not offer to call off this entire investigation if I would agree to merge TWA (Trans-World Airline) with Pan-American Airways and support your community airline bill?

"2—Did I or did I not reply that I had already promised Juan Trippe that I would give him my answer in 30 days?

"3—And did Juan Trippe subsequently make a flight across the country to see me, and spend two days closeted in secret conference with me at Palm Springs, Cal., or did he not?

"4—And when you returned from Europe thereafter, did Juan Trippe tell you to hold up and not push this investigation for a while, as he and I were still trying to get together, or did he not?"

DECIDES AGAINST MERGER

Hughes stated he considered this proposal for 30 days because it appeared to him Brewster had sponsored the investigation in the first place at Trippe's direction.

Hughes said:

"Brewster was perfectly frank and laid the cards on the table."

"Under these circumstances, and since the threat of the investigation obviously was created in the first place . . . to maneuver me into the merger with Pan-American Airways, I did not consider that my giving in to their demands would necessarily be dishonest on my part.

"In other words, since I felt the birth of the investigation was illegitimate, I did not consider that its elimination would be a crime.

"However, I wanted to think it over carefully and be sure my interpretation was correct.

"I never did reach a final decision on the morals, because, at the end of our negotiations, the merger deal which Juan Trippe offered was not one that I considered equitable from the standpoint of the other stockholders in my company, TWA."

Truman OK'd Cargo Planes, Kaiser Claims

By CHARLES FINSTON
Boston American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, July 30—Donald Nelson, Gov. Mon C. Wallgren of Washington, and Adm. William D. Leahy, chief of staff to the late President Roosevelt and now to President Truman, were named as the chief supporters of the $18,000,000 unbuilt Kaiser-Hughes 200-ton flying boat.

This was disclosed at the hearing of the Senate War Frauds Committee investigating the wartime cargo plane contract and a $22,000,000 award to Howard Hughes to construct a photo-reconnaisance plane, which is also still grounded.

The "big three" behind the flying boat project were named through official testimony and records of an inquiry held back in July, 1942, when the then Sen. Truman was chairman of a committee looking into the national defense program.

At that time Truman asked Shipbuilder Henry J. Kaiser how he would go about making 5000 air cargo ships. Kaiser boasted:

"In the first place I want you to know that this is not as wild and fantastic a scheme as it may appear."

Today at the Brewster-Ferguson investigation—five years later and still no air cargo plane constructed—Kaiser again boasted:

"The Truman Committee gave me wonderful support. I still believe in the idea. I never walked out on Howard Hughes. I hope to God he can make the plane work and prove his critics are all wrong. I have faith in him."

But, five years ago Eddie Rick-

BREWSTER SMILES

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP) — With the declaration that he will not "engage in running controversy," Sen. Brewster (R.) of Maine dismissed today an assertion from Howard Hughes, film producer, that Brewster once sought to "coerce" a merger of Hughes' airline interests with Pan-American Airways.

"They seem to be running a serial out there. After I see the complete text of this one, then I will decide if I have any comment."

Accuse Heiress' Kin Of Hindering Search

By DONALD J. MacPHAIL

CONCORD, N. H., July 20—Charging that secrecy and "her family's attitude of non-co-operation" was impeding the search for missing Anne Straw, the 20-year-old heiress who vanished from her parents' summer lodge here 10 daks ago, Atty.-Gen. Ernest R. D'Amours today demanded that complete facts in the case be made public. He had requested State Police officials and Grafton County Solicitor Robert Jones to submit to him in writing a full report on the case. He said he had asked investigators to report:

(1) Why there was a delay in reporting the girl's disappearance to proper authorities; (2) why investigators continue to meet "a non-co-operative feeling from her family," and (3) why family facts and family background was not explained to authorities at the start of this case.

"The girl's parents may consider her background their own business, but under the circumstances it is our business, too," D'Amours stated.

"As attorney-general I am going to find out what is behind these facts. I want to feret out an explanation of the entire case which, as you can readily see, we don't have at this time."

CAMP CANCELLATIONS

Asked about reports the State of New Hampshire planned to post a reward for information about the missing girl, D'Amours said such reports were unfounded.

"Posting of a reward is the responsibility of the family," he added.

The State's chief prosecutor said he had been informed that seevral camps in the section near Holderness where Anne vanished had received cancellations of August reservations because of the mystery of the girl's disappearance.

He explained that the State of New Hampshire spends thousands of dollars in advertising annually to attract summer business, adding, "No one is going to push the State around."

The attorney-general's entry into the case came as all clues in the mase failed and hope waned that the Smith College student would be found alive. Anne vanished without a trace sometime between 10 p. m., July 21 and 7 a. m., July 22. She retired with other members of the family at night and was gone when they awoke the next morning.

Two nationally-known divers, Fred Wallace, and his son, Fred, Jr., 18, of Somerville, Mass., continued exploring the waters of Little Squam lake today on the theory that Anne may have drowned while out for a midnight swim. Her bathing suit and a flashlight were found on the shore only a short distance from the porch of the summer home of her wealthy foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Ellis Straw. Mr. Straw is a bank president and reputedly is one of the state's most influential citizens.

ANNE'S FRIENDS QUIZZED

County Solicitor Jones, who has been working in the background on the case, revealed today he has questioned several of Anne's friends, including a Smith College classmate, Martha Cluteof Cleveland, O., who are vacationing at Rocky Wold camp on Big Squam lake, about 10 miles from the Straw summer lodge. He learned that Miss Straw frequently visited this camp in the weeks before she vanished.

Hunt for the missing girl had spread to New York today as the result of a telephone call police received from a girl who identified herself as Anne. Little credence was placed in this call, however, and it was believed to be the work of a crank.

Meanwhile, Anne's father prepared to leave the summer home at Holderness tomorrow to return to the family's winter home in Manchester.

Toppled Phone Foils Suicide

The attempted suicide of a Back Bay insurance salesman was thwarted early today when the victim fell and knocked over a telephone after slashing both wrists with a razor blade.

The upset receiver flashed a signal on the switchboard of a Huntington ave. apartment building, and suspicion of the night superintendent, Harold Downes, was aroused when he failed to get any response following the signal.

Investigating, he found Robert E. Nimee, 24, unconscious in his third floor studio apartment and slowly bleeding to death. There was also evidence that the victim had swallowed a quantity of iodine.

Downes hurriedly aroused Maurice Bresnahan, day superintendent, and together they gave the victim first aid, stopping the flow of blood by applying tourniquets above the slashed wrists. Police rushed the man in an ambulance to City Hospital, where it was said he would recover.

Police were told that Nimee had been despondent recently since he and his wife separated.

GO ON AND DIG

PHILADELPHIA, July 30 (AP)—Alarm bells clanged and Eastern State Penitentiary giant searchlights glared across the damp lawn.

Neighbors, recalling the recent escape of five men who tunnelled under the penitentiary wall, had reported a man was digging nearby.

Prison guards fingered their guns as police cautiously approached the man industriously turning the soil. He quickly explained he was planning a fishing trip and had gotten up to dig worms after a midnight thundershower.

Chandler to Learn Treason Penalty

Douglas Chandler, of Baltimore, convicted of treason as a Nazi radio propagandist during the war, will appear before Judge Francis J. W. Ford in Federal court today, and hear the sentence that may doom him to ignominious death.

Attorneys for the government it was reported, will ask for imposition of the death sentence. Defense attorneys intend to appeal the conviction to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary, on their contention that Chandler is insane.

Judge Ford, who has given the case serious study before, during and after the trial of the defendant, will hear arguments by counsel for both sides. Under the law, he may impose the death penalty, life imprisonment or a lesser term down to five years.

Chandler, who has been confined in East Cambridge jail since the trial ended June 28, was reported by guards as in a highly nervous condition as the fateful hour approached, but otherwise his general health was said to be good.

If the death penalty is imposed, counsel for Chandler will immediately file notice of appeal to the circuit court of appeals, it was said. Ten days are allowed for hearing the appeal.

Penniless Wife Stands By Slayer of Relative

Friendless and almost penniless, Mrs. Miguelina Martinez, 32, mother of four children, today vowed every aid for her husband, Rogelio, 33, arrested in Boston for the six-year-old knife slaying of his brother-in-law in Puerto Rico.

Rogelio, who fled to the United States nine months ago, told Federal Judge Francis J. W. Ford he was ready to go back to the island and begin serving his 10-year sentence. He pleaded, however, that help be given his wife and children, who, since coming to Boston nine weeks ago, have lived in a Warrenton st., South End, rooming house.

"I love my husband dearly," she said today. "He killed my brother after a family argument and then only in self defense. He always has been a good husband and father.

"My husband's employers sent me a small amount of money but I haven't got enough to pay our rent. I trust some provision can be made to send us back to Puerto Rico."

The convicted man's wife speaks flawless English as well as Spanish. She said she taught English in American schools on the island. The couple's four children are Iris, 10; Irma, 9; Rogelio, Jr., 8, and Anthony, 18 months.

Jews Hit Back, Hang Two British Soldier Hostages

By BENN FELLER

JERUSALEM, July 30 (INS)—Two British soldier hostages were hanged today by the Jewish underground in reprisal for the execution yesterday of three convicted extremists.

According to Irgun, the two soldiers—Sgts. Mervin Paice and Clifford Martin—had been condemned by an Irgunist military court.

Their deaths were ordained because they served in the British army intelligence corps, rather than in retaliation for yesterday's triple-execution, Irgun said.

(A Reuters dispatch from Jerusalem injected a note of mystery into the affair. The dispatch said Jerusalem police reported a thorough comb-out of the orange grove area around Nathanya where Irgun claimed the sergeants were executed revealed no trace of the missing men.)

At the same time, the Irgunists warned additional reprisals will be forthcoming in pursuance of their threat that "British blood shall flow freely."

Irgun had warned that the execution at dawn yesterday of three convicted extremists would be the signal for unleashing an "immediate offensive" which would bathe Palestine with British blood.

Fate of 4500 Jews Put Up to British

PORT-DE-BOUS, France, July 30 (AP)—Port and consular officials looked to London today to learn the next move in the odyssey of some 4500 Jews who were turned back from Palestine, and refused to land in France.

The refugees, intercepted by the British off Palestine July 18 after a voyage from Sete, France, were brought to this tiny Mediterranean port, 30 miles west of Marseille, yesterday aboard three British transports.

British officials on hand for the arrival of the vessels noted what they termed a "collective vote" of the Jews to remain aboard. They said they would report the situation to London.

French authorities already had asserted that they would not force any Jews to disembark, and one responsible British official here declared that use of violence to clear the ships was unthinkable.

London Shocked By Reprisal Hangings

LONDON, July 30 (INS)—Britain was shocked today by the reprisal hangings in Palestine of two British sergeants.

The London Evening News editorially deplored what it termed "this dreadful deed." The Jewish Agency issued a statement condemning the executions.

U. S. Seeks Plan to Beat Soviet Veto

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—Russias veto of a United Nations watchdog commission for the troubled Greek border sent United States officials on a hunt today for some new American maneuver.

Herschel V. Johnson, this country's spokesman in the Security Council argument over the Greek case, was summoned to the State Dept. for top level consultations.

Johnson told reporters in New York after the veto action that "we are not going to let the thing go by default."

One possibility known to be under consideration here would have the effect of going outside the United Nations in order to put international observers in Greece. According to this plan, Greece would invite security council members individually to send observers to the country.

Considered most probable, however, is for the United States to make some new proposal for Security Council action, on the basis that Greek troubles with Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria have reached the point of disturbing world peace and therefore require decisive action by the UN.

Brown-Forman Corp. In New Sales Program

A new sales promotional program was announced by the Brown-Forman Distillers Corp. at a sales meeting at the Parker House today. Rodman W. Moorhead, vice-president and advertising director, and Robinson Brown, Jr., advertising manager, presented the advertising and merchandising plans.

The distributors' salesmen from Massachusetts and Rhode Island heard addresses by Carlisle Emery, vice-president of the Ruthrauff & Ryan advertising agency; Sherman Jenney, eastern regional manager, and Dr. Frank Shipman, vice-president and technical director.

IT TOOK 7 COPS TO PUT HIM TO BED

NEW YORK, July 30 (INS)

Few parents have such difficulty putting the kids to bed as that which Mrs. Frieda Santoro told about today.

At 6 p. m., last night, Mrs. Santoro dumped Robert, 3½, into the tub for his nightly dunking.

Four hours later, with the help of seven policemen, she finally completed the task.

The reason: somehow, Robert managed to snag his finger in the tub drain, and while one officer sat in the tub and played with the baby, six others used everything from grease to hacksaws to release his finger.

They finally extricated him by using a chisel and hacksaw to remove the drain, after which they sawed it off Robert's finger. The bathtub, incidentally, was virtually wrecked.

PARIS, July 30 (AP)—Virginia Hill, who recently suffered a breakdown because she cared "too much" for murdered gangster "Bugsy" Siegel, is in a Paris medical institution today following intervention of the American embassy.

The embassy received a telephoned appeal from the Ritz Hotel, where the heiress had been staying under an assumed name.

A vice-consul was sent to see the girl, who turned out to be Miss Hill.

Beauty Shop Blast Toll May Reach 15

HARRISONBURG, Va., July 30 (INS)—Rescue workers dug into the wreckage of a downtown beauty shop today for possible further victims of a gas explosion which killed 10 women and injured 40 other persons.

Rescue crews believed all bodies had been removed but reports persisted that others would raise the death toll to 15.

Most of the dead were believed students of a beauty operators school in the basement.

Fire following the blast was checked. Fire Chief Armentrout said heavy butane gas used by the city in its utilities seeped into the basement, exploding when an electric heater was turned on.

Mrs. Ingalls Returns Home On Probation

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 30 (AP)—A federal judge's mercy spared Mrs. Alfred Wesley Ingalls from going to prison today but the 62-year-old clubwoman must pay $6000 to her former Negro maid, Dora Jones, for nearly 40 years' enslavement.

Together with the cash remuneration for Dora Jones, Mrs. Ingalls was fined $2500, placed under "rehabilitation" treatment of a physician-psychiatrist and ordered to avoid any act of retaliation against witnesses in her four-weeks' trial.

The court was advised that the $6000 settlement was acceptable to the 58-year-old Dora Jones, now living with a brother in St. Louis, Mo.

VA Suit Against Ingalls May Bring Him Here

Former Rep. Alfred Wesley Ingalls of Lynn, whose wife was fined $2500 in California for enslavery of her Negro maid, may return here with her shortly because of litigation pending in an action against him by the Veterans Administration.

Ingalls, a former counsel for the Watch and Ward Society, is acting guardian and conservator of four estates involving veterans or their families. The Veterans Administration petitioned probate court for his removal after the slavery case broke into the news.

Judge Frederick J. Dillon continued the case without setting a date, because of the other litigation in California.

Noted N. H. Mill Facing Strike Tieup Will Close Main Plant

Reduction of operations at the Nashua Mfg. Co's mill at Nashua, N. H., one of the oldest in the country, with more than 2500 textile workers facing loss of their jobs was announced today as 13,000 Fall River mill workers feared enforced idleness through the threatened strike of 1200 key workers, scheduled for midnight tomorrow.

Announcement of the Nashua mill curtailment was made by Royal Little, president of Textron Inc., present owners of the property.

He said that inefficient operation and high labor costs had forced removal of much work to southern mills. He offered the Nashua plant for use by other industries, after a conference with local bankers and business men.

The Nashua company, founded in 1823, is the largest employer in the New Hampshire city and during World War II turned out large quantities of cloth for the armed forces. Present plans call for evacuation of the main mill building by Jan. 1.

Meanwhile, at Lawrence, the 5471 employes at the Arlington Mills, voted in a NLRB election to retain the United Textile Workers of America, AFL, as their bargaining agent. The workers rejected by a vote of 3798 to 1473 the bid of the CIO Textile Workers Union.

Battling Biddle Leads With Right, Lands in N. Y. Clink

NEW YORK, July 30—Ernest L. Biddle, 29, of the Philadelphia Biddles, the first Biddle to lead with his right, ride in the patrol wagon, spend a night in the pokey and borrow $5 from the arresting officer to pay a fine, was being regarded with awesome pride by the rest of the clan today after a sidewalk slugfest with a Tryingham, Mass., musician.

The man who made the name Biddle famous and lifted him from Social Register obscurity was John McLennon, also 29. He not only black-eyed the battling Biddle; he won a peeper himself, thus becoming the first non-Social Registerite to hobnob with a Riddle in the clink.

Present at the affair were Mrs. Biddle, who wisely held herself aloof and so escaped custodial involvement, and Mrs. McLennon, who declared herself in, winning a fetching black eye for her pains.

They had met at a party in a swank East 79th st. apartment. They left at 1:15 a. m. Owing to the bad footing, Mrs. McLennon tripped at the curb. To avoid picking up a spavin she gracefully allowed herself a fall. She came up quickly, however, to find that Biddle, obviously misled by straining to see through the early morning fog, was calling her mate a cad for tripping her.

As the men mixed it, Mrs. McLennon drew a bead on Biddle and let him have one. Biddle blamed McLennon and let him have one. McLennon then let Biddle have one and the neighbors threw up their windows to shout for the police.

Patrolman Ernest ohs packed aau but Mrs. Biddle into the pie-wagon and sstashed them away in the clink until Magistrate Fagan should get around to passing on the case at a decent hour.

When the trio appeared before him the magistrate counted the black eyes and asked Biddle, "Had you been drinking."

Biddle said it seemed he had. The McLennons also said there had been a drink or two.

Magistrate Fagan assessed them $5 each for use of the hall. The McLennons were two dollars short. Mrs. Biddle, who was playing the spectator's role again, found $2 for them. But Biddle was flat broke. He offered a check. The clerk refused to take it. The alternative was two days in jail.

Patrolman Vohs, who had gained distinction of a sort himself by arresting a Biddle in a brawl, happily pressed a $5 bill on Biddle, automatically winning the additional distinction of being the first cop to have a Biddle in the middle for a loan.

Children's Hospital To Reap 'Trial' Cash

Brought to justice before the bar of public opinion, a young film hero, charged with first degree murder, will undergo a dramatic mock trial at Symphony Hall on Wednesday evening, Aug. 13, with a great theater and radio audience acting as jurors to decide his fate.

Tickets for this spectacular trial go on sale early next week, ranging in price from $3 to $1, and all proceeds to go to the Children's Hospital Fund. The trial will be held one week after the showing of the thrilling screen drama, "The Long Night," which opens Aug. 6 at the RKO Memorial Theater here and in more than 338 other theaters throughout New England and northern New York State.

STARS TO APPEAR

The hero of "The Long Night," driven to murder because of menace to the girl he loves, will be portrayed by Guy Madison, young Hollywood star who will replace Henry Fonda, who plays the original role on the screen. The heroine, brilliantly enacted by Barbara Bel Geddes, will be played by beautiful Jacqueline White. Ann Dvorak, who has a major role in the film will play her own role at the mock trial.

The trial will be broadcast for a full hour from 8 to 9 p. m., on the night of Aug. 13, over the Yankee Network, and the mock trial will be presented with all the impressiveness of a big Hollywood premiere, with flashlights illuminating Symphony Hall and with motion pictures taken of both spectators and performers during the trial.

LEGAL DUEL ASSURED

Two famed criminal lawyers will participate in person at this realistic mock trial. Atty. Herbert Callahan, noted attorney who recently won freedom for Charles Russell Goodale of Onset on a first degree murder charge, will be counsel for the defendant. Judge Thomas J. Courtney of Chicago, who brought to justice the notorious Capone gang and assisted in the capture of John Dillinger, will be the prosecutor.

The presiding judge will be announced later, and the theater and radio audience will sit as jurors and deliver the ultimate verdict of life or death.

The film is produced by Robert and Raymond Hakim and directed by Anatol Litvak. The mock trial of the film hero offers not only unique and gripping entertainment, but an opportunity to contribute to that most worthy of Boston institutions, the Children's Hospital.

Lynn Man, 88, Admits Shooting Self as Hoax

Pierre Blais, 88, of Holyoke st., West Lynn, confessed at Lynn Hospital today that his story of being shot and robbed of $1000 by two gunmen in his fire-swept home was all a hoax—a hoax he could not explain.

The aged man, a retired General Electric electrician, was found wounded in the abdomen, sitting a chair in his blazing kitchen.

"They shot me and they took my money belt," the aged man moaned to his rescuers. "They took $1000. That's all I had."

Taken to the hospital, Blais continued to mumble over his loss until Police Insp. Charles T. Duggan discovered Blais had $412 in his pockets.

The victim's daughter, Mrs. Louise Knight, 54, told police her father had not had a money belt for a couple of years and that she doubted he had saved $1000 from his small pension.

Blais then admitted shooting himself in a bedroom with a .38 caliber revolver and then setting fire to a pile of newspapers.

Two shots had been fired from the gun. One went wild and the other passed through the victim's abdomen. Despite his age, he was reported out of danger after a blood transfusion.

After Blais had been rescued, the flames gained headway and caused damage estimated at $3800.

Insp. Duggan saying he was writing the case off as attempted suicide and added he did not know what further action might be taken.

Seek to Avert Bus Strike at Winthrop

Officials and bus drivers of the Rapid Transit Bus Co. lines, only transportation for 10,000 Winthrop commuters, strove today to avert a threatening strike which union members voted July 18 by an 84 to 10 vote.

The union seeks to reopen their contract under a 60-day opening clause which expires on Saturday.

Members have no dispute over wages but are dissatisfied over the handling of extra work, charging that seniority rights are being violated. Under the latest contract, the men were boosted from $1 to $1.25 an hour and had their work week extended from 40 to 48 hours on straight time.

Philip Saltonstall To Wed 4th Time

PASADENA, Cal., July 30 (AP)—Philip Leverett Saltonstall, 47, a cousin of Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, is planning his fourth marriage.

He was divorced in Reno last Thursday by his third wife, Maxine Jennings Saltonstall, former showgirl.

Saltonstall and Mrs. Beatrice Fenton Morrill, 44, of Pasadena, obtained a marriage license here yesterday.

Quincy Police Wives To Run Association

Wives of Quincy policemen, flush with the success of a protest that won better working schedules for their husbands, were forming their own association today.

A meeting to organize the group will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow in an ante-room of the Adams Theater. A small pamphlet announcing the meeting and general purpose of the association ends with the line "Husbands Are Invited to Attend."

George Curley Better But Still Very Sick

The condition of George J. Curley, 28, son of Mayor Curley, was reported "slightly improved" today but still very serious.

At Cohasset Hospital where he was rushed last week with pneumonia and pleurisy, young Curley is fighting off effects of an operation last Friday for removal of blood clots.

Kaiser

enbacker and other leading plane manufacturers warned the government against sinking taxpayers' cash into the ill-fated venture, designed to hurdle the heavy toll of ships sunk by submarines.

The 5-year-old colloquy between Truman, Kaiser and other Senators over Rickenbacker's challenge was injected into the current inquiry by Senator Owen Brewster (R.) of Maine. It follows:

KAISER—Rickenbacker made the statement I couldn't built air cargo ships and there was a question in his mind whether they could be built in shipyards.

TRUMAN—If you remember, Mr. Kaiser, that same statement was made about the automobile industry and it doesn't carry much weight with me. I think the job can be done if there is the will to do it.

VOICES CONFIDENCE

KAISER—I want to say this: I am satisfied . . . I expect to make air cargo records in this country. When, I don't know. When they are needed and when the government thinks they are needed.

TRUMAN—What I am getting at is that Mr. Rickenbacker said that this cargo-airship construction couldn't be done by a shipbuilding industry. It was also said that Boulder dam couldn't be built and cargo ships couldn't be built in 46 days. Tell us how would you go agout constructing air cargo ships.

KAISER—In the first place, I want you to know that this is not as wild and fantastic a scheme as it may appear.

TRUMAN—Let us judge that. You tell us what you want to do and we will make up our minds whether it is wild or fantastic. Tell us in words of one syllable.

Kainser then detailed how much area he had in his shipyards for construction of new plant facilities to build the air cargo ship, as well as his many employes and other facilities. He stressed, also that he would need more tools, in short some $9,000,000 for plant space and tools.

DISPUTES RICKENBACKER

TRUMAN—Mr. Rickenbacker said construction of these air cargo ships would require a complete revamping of the shipyards in order to build them.

KAISER—That is not correct.

TRUMAN—Will the tools you have on hand be available for that use?

KAISER—A part of them.

TRUMAN—Then you would require other machine tools?

KAISER—Yes.

TRUMAN—You think you could proceed in a reasonable time to construct cargo air ships?

KAISER—I not only think so, but I am joined by several of the largest and most responsible manufacturers in that belief.

TRUMAN—Would you care to name some of them?

KAISER—I would prefer not to, because it might involve——. It may sound fantastic. There is nothing that is impossible, but I think we are not the only ones probing that.

A year later—in July, 1943—Sen. (now Governor) Wallgren wrote a secret report after a survey of aircraft-producing companies. He said this about the Kaiser-Hughes wooden flying boat venture:

CREDITS NELSON

"Credit should be given Donald Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, for his active interest in the cargo type of seaplane over the opposition of the Navy."

"The committee (including Sen. Kilgore (D.) of West Virginia, and Counsel Hugh Fulton) believes that it is important to continue experimentation with the seaplane as a possible carrier of large quantities of cargo.

"Since neither the land plane nor the sea plane could survive a forced landing at sea, it would seem unnecessary to penalize the sea plane as a possible cargo carrier by requiring it to be able to meet unusual stresses and strains."

Kaiser testified under interrogation by Sen. Ferguson (R.) of Michigan that Adm. Leahy personally approved the Kaiser-Hughes plan to build three giant flying boats in a White House conference on Sept. 10, 1942. WPB Chief Donald Nelson took him to see Leahy after Army, Navy and other war agencies vetoed the proposition.

Mrs. Peron Plans Switzerland Visit

BERN, Switzerland, July 30 (AP)—The Swiss government announced that Senora Eva Duarte Peron, wife of President Juan D. Peron of Argentina, would visit Switzerland next Monday.

Senora Peron is now staying on the French Riviera, following a visit to Paris, and previously had visited Spain, Italy and Portugal on her current European trip.

REVERSE FIRE CALL

TITUSVILLE, Pa., July 30 (AP)—A. Bedow is not a man to fiddle while Rome—or his automobile—burns.

Discovering the front seat of his car ablaze, Bedow yanked the seat out, threw it into the trunk compartment and sped to the fire station.

Fireman doused the blaze which had spread to the rear of the car but said there would have been less damage had Bedow waited for them to come to the fire.

Four Lose 14-Hour Fight With Tuna in Maine Contest

BAILEY ISLAND, Me., July 30 (AP)—Losers in a 14½-hour all-night battle with a giant bluefin, four doughty competitors in the Maine State Tuna Tournament returned to Mackerel Cove today surprised that search for them had been inaugurated at daybreak.

A Salem Mass., Coast Guard plane, ordered out when the group's radio remained silent during the early morning hours, found their cruiser safe 15 miles out and returned to base.

George Reuben, Freeport, N. Y.; Ned Schaffer, Brielle, N. H.; Bill Faynton, Manusquam, N. J., and Charles Mann, Long Island, N. Y., reported they lost the huge fish only when their 54-thread line wore out from strain.

Fro late yesterday afternoon, through the blackness of night, and into the dawn, the quartet battled to hold their quarry.

"Once, about 9 p. m.," Reuben said, "the fight was so close we could reach the wire leader at the end of the line—but then it started all over again."

The group, greeted by other contestants and the wives of Reuben and Schaffer, who had remained at the dock all night, sent a radio message at midnight advising of the continuing battle, then shutting down the instrument to concentrate on the fight. Another craft picked up a portion of the message and, when further contact failed, became apprehensive. The request for Coast Guard search followed.

Than V. Ranck, Hearst Editor, Dies

EASTON, Md., July 30 (INS)—Than Vanneman Ranck, former executive of the Hearst newspaper organization died today on his estate at the age of 73.

Ill for some time, Ranck, who retired in 1937, had been managing editor of the New York American and Chicago Herald-American, and editor of the Boston Daily and Sunday Advertiser. He was also former chief of the Hearst newspapers foreign service.

A mountain in the Antarctic was named in his honor by Sir Hubert Wilkins in 1928 because of his work in connection with organization of the Wilkins expedition.

Ranck is survived by his widow and one daughter.

Wounded Doe Finds Friend, Guardian in Devoted Collie

Acting as chief nurse and courageous guardian, "Laddie," a magnificent collie owned by Mr. and Mrs. Warren Lewellen of Davis rd., Bedford, is waging a desperate fight to save the life of a young doe shot lawlessly by heartless hunters last Friday night.

When the Lewellens heard shots at twilight near their Pine Grove Farm, they investigated and found the deer in nearby woods with a bullet in the back of its neck.

Neighbors reported they had seen three men shooting wildly from a car at a few deer using a water hole near the deserted road.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewellen brought the deer to their farm and called a veterinarian.

Laddie promptly became nurse and defender. He fought one bitter fight with a much larger dog who, attracted by the smell of blood, tried to attack the doe.

His right front paw was slashed and now he limps but he'll still fight to the death anyone trying to harm his sick charge.

NICKNAMED 'BAMBI'

Mrs. Lewellen nicknamed the doe "Bambi" and with her husband built a canopy of branches near their barn to protect the doe from the hot sun.

They raided their vegetable garden for the tenderest young beans, beets and baby carrots. When the appeal of these fade they feed her raspberries which she seems to relish.

They have had the vet three times but as he has not had experience with wild animals he says he is stumped. The doe can not sit up alone as the rear legs appear paralyzed but looks bright and pert when Mrs. Lewellen cradles her into a front sitting position.

NEW ADVICE

If anyone comes near the doe she gives a pathetic rumble in warning to keep away, but when Laddie licks her long, pointed ears and her face she appears grateful, as if it helps the pain. Laddie is infinitely tender in his ministrations and gazes at her for long hours with love in his huge, gentle, brown eyes.

The Lewellens would like to have advice on how to care for the doe. In the meantime they are searching for her little fawn, for tracks showed she had one with her when she was shot.

Neither has had much experience with animals as they bought their farm only a year ago. Mrs. Lewellen, a former interior decorator, uses the professional name of Paula Warren. Lewellen is an engineer with a public utility company.

For the Best Years of your Life

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, will be supplied at extra cost as soon as available.

THIS much folks learned during the war—the money that buys a Buick buys a lot of years of dependable service.

This much you can be sure of, looking this postwar beauty over — the dollars you put into this one will buy the best years of your motoring life.

Check style. You don't have to be told these long, clean, sweeping lines are everlasting in their classic beauty.

Check power. This is a husky Buick Fireball straight-eight you have here — quick-triggered and velvety from your first go-signal to the very last stop.

Check the ride. Four big coil springs, one to a wheel, soak up road jars like a blotter soaks ink. And their gentle action needs no care to keep them ever soft and perpetually easy in their action.

Check room. Here's space for six on big broad cushions — here is the stretch of generous wheelbase — here the stability of two tons of steady-going roadweight.

Check the lightness of the wheel. Check the quick bite of brakes. Check the solid, all-together feel of a car taut and true in every move and moment.

Check it all, in short, and see if this one doesn't add up to years of fun, years of joyous going, years that are rich in adventures shared and duties well performed.

You open the door on those years when you tell us now you want to put an order in. We'll take it with or without a car to trade and with our promise that you'll get your car as promptly as the times permit.

Seek Gollum Link To Dynamite Sales

SANTA ANA, Cal., July 30 (INS)—The State renewed its attempt today to link George "Bud" Gollum with purchase of the dynamite used to blow up Walter E. Overell's yacht in Newport harbor last March 15.

Special Prosecutor Eugene D. Williams launched the newest phase in the 10-week-old yacht murder trial by calling two dynamite salesmen to the stand.

The purchase is one of the State's crucial points against Gollum and Beulah Louise Overell, 18, who are being tried for the murder of her wealthy parents.

After the two dynamite salesmen finish their testimony the State will go into the matter of handwriting. Gollum is alleged to have signed a sales slip for one of the purchases with the name "R. L. Standish."

She walks in beauty who follows the advice Ruth Mugglebee writes every day in the Daily Record.

FOR 17 YEARS, AMERICA HAS SAID...

"When there's a Choice it's a PHILCO!"

If you're about to buy a radio or radio-phonograph, you're sitting in the driver's seat again.

TODAY, FOR THE FIRST TIME IN SIX YEARS, you don't have to "take what you can get" any more. You can walk into your dealer's store, choose what you really want on the basis of quality, tone, performance and reputation . . . and buy it for immediate delivery.

THAT'S WHY YOU'LL WANT TO SEE the new 1948 Philco radios and radio-phonographs arriving now at your Philco dealer. Philco, the industry leader, is back in full production. Vast new factories with the longest radio production lines in the world are working at new efficiency, turning out new 1948 Philcos at the greatest rate in their history.

BUT MUCH MORE IMPORTANT, in these days of post-war readjustment, Philco is bringing you the same standard of value which has made its name "famous for quality the world over." With all its resources as the world's largest radio manufacturer, there is no price which Philco could not meet or beat. But there is a standard of quality with which Philco makes no compromise.

WHEREVER RADIOS and radio-phonographs are sold, the Philco name stands for quality and value . . . the standard of comparison for radio buyers everywhere. In its new models, Philco has kept faith with that reputation. In every 1948 Philco, from $19.95 up, you get the utmost in tone, performance and workmanship for the price you pay . . . PLUS, the assurance of years of enjoyment and satisfaction which are implied in the Philco name.

THIS YEAR, AGAIN, impartial surveys* show that of all who name the radio-phonograph they will buy, 50% want a Philco. For 17 years, America has said . . . "When there's a choice, it's a Philco!" So when you make your purchase, let Philco quality be your guide . . . accept no less and pay no more.

*Surveys furnished on request

HOME GARDEN FORUM

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School

Q—What is the latest date for planting beets for canning?

A—Beets can be planted up until Aug. 15, but for high quality beets that grew fast, Aug. 1 is the best date. Frost slows down late beets and the quality is poor.

Q—How can I get rid of purslane in the garden?

A—This weed persists under most conditions. The soil is full of weed seeds, and the only way to keep it under control in a small garden is to pull it and carry it out. This will also prevent it from seeding in.

Q—How much Black Leaf 40 should be added to the potato spray to control aphids?

A—Use about 1½ teaspoons to each gallon of spray.

Q—When should climbing roses be pruned?

A—Prune out old wood as soon as they finish blooming.

Town Sagging In Mysterious Earth Shift

WELCH, W. Va., July 30 (AP)—Welch tottered today on the rim of the earth, and about 6000-odd inhabitants hoped their homes were not being sucked under the soil.

Torn sidewalks, ruptured buildings and buckled pavements showed the effects of a slow earth movement which has quickened in recent months.

Mayor L. E. Rogers guessed an underground stream might be to blame. He has told the city council that by listening at a wall at the rear of the Pochontas Theater one can hear running water.

Another theory was that, in years past, coal had been mined beneath the city.

Nine downtown buildings have been reft by wide cracks.

The brick post office has burst its seams with a fissure at the rear. One sidewalk has pulled away from a building, leaving a gap. A brick pavement has sunk several inches.

Residents said their homes have been settling for years, but the sinking has grown worse recently.

Copenhagen Mayor Raps Race Bias at Convention

COPENHAGEN, July 30 (AP)—"It is unworthy to treat the city's guests like that," Lord Mayor H. P. Soerensen said on the Copenhagen radio last night in commenting on reports that hotels and private homes here had refused to house Negro delegates to a world Baptist congress.

"We cannot in decency classify human beings according to color," declared the Lord Mayor. The seventh congress of the Baptist World Alliance began yesterday.

War Hero Tells of His Woman Boss

He showed plenty of courage and good judgment as an Army captain who had to lead troops into combat. Now he is showing another kind of courage and good judgment—as secretary to a woman boss in a Boston girls' business school.

A Dorchester veteran tells how it feels to work for a woman, after giving orders himself for so long, in an entertaining article, "Take a Letter, Captain," which will be published in next Sunday's American Weekly, magazine issued with all editions of the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

In "Hope for Cancer Cure?—Absolutely Yes," another American Weekly article for next Sunday, you may learn from an expert the facts about cancer and the answers to many of your questions about this dread disease.

Hospital 'Stork' Proves Big Bat

Nurses at the Evangeline Booth Hospital, West Newton st., South End, thought that Old Man Stork had really invaded their maternity ward today until Patrolmen James Mooney and John Dame proved it just wasn't so.

The officers, called excitedly to trap a big bird in the maternity ward, armed themselves with brooms and leaped to the fray.

Mooney jumped three feet from the floor and, with a mighty swipe, pasted the flying visitor. The bird then was taken to the Warren ave. police station where Sgt. Andrew J. Neely—quite an ornithologist — proclaimed the prize a bat, and a very big bat at that. The bat was very dead, too.

HOPE FOR TAX REFORM

A LONG OVERDUE program for major reform of the general tax policies of the country emerged from the recent Conference of Governors in Salt Lake City.

With proper assistance from Congress this may inject realism into a situation that has been too long ruled by fantasy.

A committee appointed by the Conference will meet in September with committees representing both houses of Congress for exploration of the possibilities of such a program.

If these discussions serve no other purpose than to expose the basic inequity and the fundamental injustice of the manner in which the Federal Government supports itself out of the wages of the American people—and at the expense of their standard of living—they will serve a very good purpose indeed.

The Hearst newspapers have always contended that a tax on individual and corporate income, for the principal support of government, is the most inequitable and unjust form of taxation the inept and grasping minds of politicians have ever devised.

From the beginning of the country's experience with the income tax the Hearst newspapers warned that it would be a grievous burden upon the people and waste their resources and diminish their productivity and prosperity.

SENATOR ALBERT W. HAWKES of New Jersey and Senator Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, who attended the Governors' Conference and will participate in the September discussions, now confirm that appraisal.

"Federal income taxes are a huge and inequitable burden to individuals and struggling businesses," the two Senators assert.

"The country is at the point of passive but dangerous rebellion against needless, extravagant, overlapping and unfair taxation.

"CONGRESS AND THE NATIONAL GOVERNORS' CONFERENCE REALIZE THAT REFORM CANNOT BE PUT OFF MUCH LONGER WITHOUT DISASTER.

"Our committees will meet in September, in the Congressional recess to draw up a definite program of tax reform legislation for Congress and State legislatures."

REP. BERTRAM W. GEARHART of California, author of a bill to substitute a Manufacturers' Excise Tax for the levy on incomes, offers further and more specific proof of the baneful effect of supporting government out of wages.

"Eighty per cent of the Federal revenue is raised by income taxes," says Mr. Gearhart.

"But that 80 per cent comes from only 40 per cent of the national income."

Consequently, as he reports, MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED BILLION DOLLARS OF NATIONAL INCOME ESCAPES TAXATION ALTOGETHER.

"None of that would escape under a manufacturers' Excise Tax, which taxes all goods AT THE SOURCE, the levies being passed on to the consumer by the manufacturer.

"Trade would increase, because the majority of the present income tax payers would not have to save 20 per cent and more of their income yearly to pay the government directly.

"IF WE TAX THAT ONE HUNDRED BILLION DOLLARS EQUITABLY, NINETEEN MILLION LOWER-BRACKET EARNERS WOULD BE FREED ENTIRELY FROM INCOME TAXES, AND STRUGGLING BUSINESSES AND INDUSTRIES WOULD BE LIBERATED FROM THE STIFLING LOAD THAT NOW KEEPS THEM FROM GROWING."

CERTAINLY the Federal and State governments should tax the people not only within the limits of their own real and legitimate needs, BUT WITH STRICT OBSERVANCE OF THE RULES OF EQUITY AND JUSTICE.

The income tax operates in violation and contempt of those essential rules, as our national experience attests.

Right is the time to weep;
To wet with unseen tears
Those graves of memory where sleep
The joys of other years.
Hopes, that were angels at their birth,
But perished young like things of earth.
—JAMES MONTGOMERY.

A BALTIMORE bachelor who says he recently "mourned" his sixtieth birthday, states he has entirely given up the idea of marrying because it is "too late" in life for him to think of raising a family. Nonsense. I know a man who married at the age of 61. That was about 15 years ago. He is now the proud papa of five very lively and healthy children.

CHAMPAGNE BLONDE: Dolores Gray, appearing in the London company of "Annie Get Your Gun," has scored a greater personal triumph in the British capital than any other American actress has for years. Champagne Dolores, a blonde from San Francisco, handles the role Ethel Merman originated and is still playing in New York. Incidentally, a champagne blonde is No. 12 in the order of preference on the list of 70 different kinds of blondes.

Ethel Merman

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Am asked if I knew a celebrity named "Bad News" Johnson. I believe there was a boxer of that name, but I don't recall him very clearly. Sorry I can't be of more help. If I had been asked if I knew "Choo Choo" Johnson it would have been different . . . The number of young fellows marrying women, who are somewhat older, continues to increase. Well, marrying an older woman, if not too much older, is not bad. In fact, it is now claimed the marriage, which has the greatest chance for success, is one in which the wife is a year or more older than the husband.

PLEASE NOTE: In some sections where the mutuel machine industry dominates thoroughbred racing, many horses are badly treated. They are raced all the year around. Therefore, some break down from the strain on their legs. Others become victims of disease because of weakened resistance caused by fatigue. Recently at one race course a jockey was suspended and criticized by track officials for not whipping a horse. The idea being if the horse had been whipped he might have run faster and given the bettors no cause for complaint. A few days later another jockey rode the same horse. Not wishing to incur the ire of the officials he vigorously whipped the poor animal. The horse made a much poorer showing when whipped. In fact, he finished last. It is about time the SPCA became very active around some race courses.

WEDDING RINGS: "My impressionable spouse is now wearing his wedding ring on the third finger of his right hand because you said it was the thing to do," writes a young matron of Baltimore. "I don't agree with you. Neither do any of the etiquette experts, but my husband stubbornly adheres to the idea." (Note—I offered no opinion as to where a husband should wear his wedding ring. I merely reported some experts on wedding rings claim the wearing of a ring on the left hand signifies subjection of a wife to her husband. A sign that she is in accord with the "obey" in the marriage ceremony. A ring on the third finger of the right hand, say the experts aforementioned, signifies authority. Therefore, that is where a husband should wear his wedding ring.

OVER THERE: The U. S. A. still has about 380,000 men of its armed forces overseas. Of these 150,000 are in Germany and 140,000 in Japan. There are also 50,000 of our boys in Korea and 6000 in China. I am still hearing from GI Joes from all over the world. Those who are in Japan seem the most contented. That is, of course, as contented as a home loving lad could be under the circumstances.

PASSING BY: Earl Brucker, of Connie Mack's Athletics. In a recent exhibition game Earl and his son, Earl, Jr., both played for the Athletics. The only father and son combination playing regularly on the same team in organized baseball I can remember was James O'Rourke, Sr., and James O'Rourke, Jr. They played for Bridgeport in the Connecticut League. Papa O'Rourke was a catcher and his son played shortstop . . . Tony De Marco, Sparkplug of the dancing De Marcos. Tony and his wife and dance partner, Sally, live in an 11-room apartment which has five bathrooms. One of these bathrooms is reserved exclusively for Teddy, the De Marco dog. Teddy likes a cold shower in the morning and a warm bath before retiring.

THESE DAYS

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE SURPRISE FACT about the 80th Congress, which has now adjourned, is its actual accomplishment. The American system differs from the British in that political control need not be unified; that is, the President may be one political party while the majority in either house of Congress or both may be of differing parties. When that happens, congressional achievement is difficult.

Sen. Robert A Taft

In this instance, President Truman is a Democrat; the Republicans had a capable working majority in the House of Representatives but only an organizing majority in the Senate.

By an "organizing majority" is meant one which made it possible for the Republicans to select the officers of the Senate and the chairmen and majorities of committees, but beyond that they were in an uncertain position.

At first it appeared that the Republican would have a working majority of three in the Senate; then that seemed to disappear with Senators Morse, Aiken, Tobey, Ives, Cooper, Langer and Lodge functioning completely on their own.

Toward the end of the session, only Morse and Langer were wholly without party consciousness. Both were discounted in all calculations. Wayne Morse proved himself to be not a Republican but a New Dealer, as fixed in the ways of socialistic confusion as Claude Pepper; William Langer was marked off as a maverick.

Thus, Senator Taft, the leader of his party in the Senate, had to carry through his party's program with so narrow a margin that on his major measure he had to coalesce with like-minded Democrats.

IN THESE CIRCUMSTANCES, it is little short of remarkable that any legislation at all went through all stages to actual law. The most important achievement was the Taft-Hartley Bill, passed over the President's veto. The measure, regulating the power of labor unions and setting up a code of industrial relations, created somewhat of a furore but not as much as was anticipated.

The Taft-Hartley Bill will undoubtedly be one of the principal issues in the 1948 campaign and whoever runs for President will have to stand or fall by it.

Some assume that a non-congressional candidate, such as Dewey, Stassen, Eisenhower or MacArthur, might, in the campaign, evade the political liabilities of this act, but this is a misreading of American politics.

Truman will run on his veto; the Republican will have to run on his party's sponsorship of the Taft-Hartley Bill and there can and will be no dodging. Any Republican candidate will have to defend Robert A. Taft's leadership or suffer defeat by admitting that Truman's leadership has been more correct. Taft will be an issue.

THIS ALSO APPLIES to the tax bills. Twice passed, twice vetoed, twice lost in Congress by a narrow margin in the effort for passage over the President's veto, these bills will be major issues in the next election.

It is impossible to evade those issues. The Republicans, in coalition with Democrats, offered the people a substantial reduction. The New Dealers, led by Henry Wallace, won the President to opposition to tax reduction.

IN A WORD, these two measures will form the platform of both parties in 1948. Another matter that will develop out of congressional action into a campaign issue is the bi-partisan foreign policy for which Sen. Vandenberg stands sponsor. The author of that policy is John Foster Dulles, Gov. Dewey's adviser on foreign affairs.

Up to the veto of the tax bill, that policy justified itself. It now requires revaluation in terms of foreign commitments and domestic needs. A large, if not major, element in the Republican party is now opposed to the bi-partisan policy and it is doubtful if President Truman can hold the entire Democratic party in line for it. Certainly the Wallace-Pepper element oppose it already.

Thus, for the first time since 1944, the foreign affairs of the United States become a campaign issue. This definitely imperils the Marshall Plan, which, not having been adopted by Congress, through appropriations, at its recent session, will come before it in stormy weather at the next session.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 30 — Chatted with Rosalind Russell at Del Monte, where she's playing golf and enjoying a vacation. She told me she is pepped up over "Velvet Touch," a real thriller-diller, and the first one she is making for Independent Artists, the company she and Freddie Brisson formed. Roz said,

Rosalind Russell

"Leo Genn, who was Captain Brant in 'Mourning Becomes Electra,' and is now with Olivia De Havilland in 'Snake Pit,' is my leading man. He is so right for the part. Then we were lucky enough to get Sidney Greenstreet, and Jack Gates, a protege of Freddie's and mine, will get his first directorial job."

I asked Roz about the baby rumors. She said, "I wish it were true. I hope to adopt a little girl as a playmate for Lance sometime later, but I am not on the stork's list."

MAUREEN O'HARA has had some mighty big pictures, but nothing has boosted her stock the way "Miracle on 34th Street" did. That picture has done more for her than the most expensive spectacle, in which she wore gorgeous gowns, could ever do.

Now Darryl Zanuck has bought "Fear of Little People," a novel by Guy and Constance Jones, to be published by Random House.

It's a semi-fantasy with a Leprechaun importantly featured. Producer Fred Kohlmar will go to Ireland and try to get one of the Abbey players for the Leprechaun. He'll also shoot locales there.

CLARK GABLE gets back in a few days from another fishing trip and this time he'll stay put, because he starts "Homecoming" Aug. 16, with Mervyn LeRoy directing—and Clark is my guest on the radio Sunday, I'm happy to say.

There's a real story back of Mervyn LeRoy being handed this directorial job, for he was the first one to test my friend Clark for the movies. Merv was crazy about the test and tried his darndest to sell it to Jack Warner and Darryl Zanuck, who was then at Warners. But the big bosses took one look and said, "His ears are too big."

Mervyn, telling me this story, said, "Now they would be glad to release just his ears."

ALREADY the telephone has been ringing and notes have been flying about my interview with Joan Caulfield on the Radio Sunday.

Joan had a few words to say about the Hollywood men, and why she liked the eastern gents better. That hasn't kept her Hollywood admirers away from her, however. They're just trying to change her mind.

The very night of the broadcast she came to the house with Charlie Feldman and we played the record of our interview. I must say Charlie took it in stride, but a girl as pretty as Joan can get away with almost anything.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Lita Gray Chaplin is hiding from all reporters and remaining completely incommunicado since word got about that she is keeping company with Danny Arnold. Danny is the 23-year-old pal of her 22-year-old son, Charlie Chaplin, Jr., and it has been whispered he'll be the fourth Mr. Lita Gray.

Of course, Lita isn't yet divorced from number three. A telephone call to her mother brought back the cryptic answer, "I don't know," to every question I asked.

I hope by the time this is printed that Charlie Chaplin will have the good sense to see how important it is to give Joseph Schenck power of attorney in the United Artists setup. Mary Pickford didn't hesitate a moment. In fact, Pickford and Chaplin came to Joseph Schenck and asked his help. He didn't want the job, because it means extra work.

Mary Pickford

But he is really about the only one who could put United Artist back where it belongs. Charlie is consulting his lawyer, but he knows from past experience the integrity of Joseph Schenck.

United Artists should be an important organization. It could be. It was when Joseph Schenck headed it before.

Richard Hart got kind of a bad break in his first picture at MGM. He was brought from the stage, hotter than a firecracker, and was handed the lead opposite Queen Greer Garson in "Woman of My Own." Then the picture was called back and remade as "Desire Me."

But you know the old saw about bad beginnings. They frequently make for good endings and things are steadily getting brighter for this actor who was such a hit on Broadway in "Dark of the Moon." Since the Garson picture he has made love to Lana Turner in "Green Dolphin Street" and now has an important role in "The Big City" coming up.

In spite of all this activity, Hart has yet to be seen by the movie fans.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: 'Tis rumored that the Jesse Laskys are talking property settlement.

The MacDonald Careys are expecting their second baby in the late winter.

Here's another stork item. The Hank Daniels, who were married last December, expect a baby late next fall.

Collette Lyon, former show girl, is divorcing Alan Dinehart, Jr. After her divorce in Las Vegas she'll marry Lt. Com. Ronald Hoyle.

Dick Foran is keeping the telephone busy saying pretty things to Lorraine Smith, daughter of Walter Smith.

Wedding bells will ring for Peggy Maley, young starlet, and Edward Conne, who returned after six months in Mexico.

The Leos were given a party by Helen Ferguson—seven of them with seven birthday cakes. Robert Taylor, whose birthday is August 5, Mrs. Doran, whose birthday is July 23, and Helen herself were the birthday kids. Joan Fontaine and William Dozier, the Henry Ginsbergs, Barbara Stanwyck, of course, and Robert Stack were among those who had a chance to listen to the versatile Madame Zelda. She tells fortunes with eggs, finger tips and cards.

Sidney Sheldon, who wrote "Bachelor and the Bobby Soxer," has decided to be a bachelor himself. He and his wife, Jane Kaufman, are telling it to a judge.

The Arthur Lakes celebrated their wedding anniversary at Fox and Hounds Cafe last week.

Boston After Dark

TODAY'S Massachusetts Handicap may be the most expensive race ever staged by a New England race track . . . Other $50,000 purses have been awarded by both Suffolk Downs and Narragansett . . . Not before in our comparatively brief racing history, however, has any $50,000 race carried with it an almost certain guarantee that the sponsoring track must go deep into its bankroll to pay off a minus show pool, and possibly a minus place pool to boot.

TWO ELEMENTS of this goldplated gallop seem to make at least one, and probably two minus pools unavoidable . . . They are the presence of Stymie, who probably will go to the post the shortest priced favorite ever, and a small field of seven starters . . . Suffolk Downs is prepared to lose thousands of dollars in supplementing the track's take so that at least 10 cents on a dollar, which is guaranteed under the state's racing regulations, will be paid every holder of a ticket on the three horses finishing in the money . . . As Stymie, the champion money-winning horse of all time is consistency itself in managing to get some portion of the purse, his entry is attracting the attention of professional "bridge-jumpers" from here and New York, and as far west as Chicago.

THIS REPORTER happened to be present at Joe Venuti's restaurant last night when evidence of the "big horse's" appeal to the "bridge-jumpers," (i. e., the surething fellows and girls who back a solid favorite to finish third) came over the telephone wires from Cincinnati . . . A speculating burgher asked a Boston friend to handle an $8000 wager on Stymie to show, and the telephone call was for the purpose of alerting the Bostonian to receive a certified check for that amount which the Ohioan said was in the mail.

MINUS POOLS happen every so often and there seems no way in which a racetrack can insure against their recurrence . . . The arithmetic of "minus pools" is puzzling even to some inveterate race-goers . . . Here is an illustration . . . Supposing today's big race is run with Stymie, Elpis and Blue Yonder finishing in that order . . . Supposing that $100,000 is wagered on these three horses to show and the total show pool is only $110,000, the other $10,000 being divided among the four "outsiders" . . . The Commonwealth of Massachusetts takes its cut "off the top," and the Commonwealth gets its share regardless of the financial fate of its partner, the racetrack.

THE $110,000 show pool shrinks at once to $106,000, as the Commonwealth gets 4 per cent of the gross plus a 50-50 split in the "breakage" (piles of odd pennies) . . . The track owners must now pay $2.20 for every $2 wagered on all of the in-the-money horses . . . With only $5000 in the till, the track must go into its surplus to pay the other $5000 due to bettors holding winning show tickets . . . Our guess is that Judge John Pappas and J. Arthur Warner and President Allan J. Wilson will be well satisfied if the track's deficit is only $5000 . . . But add this amount to the original $50,000 at stake in the Handicap, and the total represents the most costly race ever run in New England.

THERE IS A "professional" tinge to the sentiment for Stymie this year, it seems to us from overhearing some pre-race conversation . . . The "surething" boys may be expected to be out in force . . . We heard one sage gentleman who makes a living in backing his opinion of sporting events say that he regards Stymie's chances of being in the money with the same confidence that he looks forward to Maine and Vermont voting Republican next year . . . Less confident citizens will remember another Massachusetts Handicap in which the great horse Discovery was favored at 4-5 as "something good to eat" . . . Many saddened investors did some "eating" that afternoon—of mutuels tickets.

WASHINGTON, July 30—Sen. William E. Jenner, the freshman from Indiana, walked into the Senate chamber a couple of days ago with a bunch of keys dangling from his neck. Colleagues started to josh him, asking if he had gotten a side job as steward of a wine cellar.

"No," replied Sen. Jenner, "I just don't want to go through another experience like last night."

The solon explained that his wife had gone back home to Bedford, Ind., and he has been attempting to maintain bachelor quarters here. His biggest headache, he revealed, has been with laundry and suit pressers.

The other evening he stopped at the presser's to pick up a suit and decided to save work for himself by changing into the newly-pressed raiment and leave the one he was wearing.

Emerging, he was about to get into his car when he spied a movie house across the street. He decided to go to the show.

It was pretty late when he got out. He reached into a pocket for his keys and then remembered he had left them in the suit at the cleaner's. That establishment, of course, was long closed.

He couldn't move his car and he couldn't get into his home. After going crazy on the phone for half an hour he finally induced a friend to put him up for the night. He concluded:

"I got up at daybreak and was waiting in front of the cleaning shop when it opened at 7:30. I don't intend to go through that again."

I DO NOT WISH to create undue alarm, but a strange bug may be loose in the Capitol, causing goodness knows what depredations.

Clair T. Kenny of Archibald, Pa., went to work as a Capitol policeman on July 1. That afternoon he was stationed at the main entrance to the House of Representatives when he felt a sting and saw a little brown bug on his thumb.

The next morning he woke up with a badly swollen hand. The U. S. public health service ordered him to Providence Hospital here. For several days he had such a chill he required six blankets and four hot water bottles, although it was typical Washington summertime.

He is expected back to work late this week but the identity of the bug is still a mystery. Kenny swears up and down it couldn't have been bitten by Sen. Morse.

—1—

AMID considerable acclaim, the House passed a bill (H. R. 3152) the other day. The measure extended the powers of the President under the second war powers act.

This is one bill the President will never get a chance to veto. The reason is that the bill represents an incredible lapse of memory on the part of Congressmen.

A bill granting exactly the same powers was passed by both House and Senate and approved by the President a couple of weeks ago.

REP. ALVIN F. WEICHEL, Republican of Ohio, went up to the House press gallery the other day to distribute a release among the reporters. One who stuck out a hand for a copy was a lady named Marie de Gattegno. She was reading it when Mr. Weichel asked her whom she represented. "France press," replied the lady.

With a wink to the other scribes, Rep. Weichel grabbed it away from her.

"You can't get me any votes," he rumbled.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN went up to the Capitol the other day to have lunch on the cuff with Leslie Biffle, one of the best touches for a free lunch in these parts. As the President was leaving to return to Veto Villa on Pennsylvania ave., Sen. Tom Connally, of Texas, remembered he wanted to ask him about something.

"Harry! Oh Harry!" he called after the departing executive. When the president failed to hear, the doorman came to the rescue.

Completely forgetting himself for the moment the doorman yelled: "Harry! Harry! Sen. Connally wants to talk to you!"

The doorman could have been used for a stoplight, his face was so red.

IT'S HAPPENED again by golly! A job-seeker came in to see Sen. Homer E. Capehart of Indiana. He was interviewed by the Senator's executive assistant who told him to come back in a few days for an answer.

The assistant typed out the vital statistics on the applicant and wrote across the top: "What a jerk!"

You don't need to be told what happened. The job seeker returned as directed and the assistant, who meantime had forgotten all about him, pulled his application from the files and handed it to him.

That's all.

GM Sales Profit Near Record

DETROIT, July 30 (INS)—General Motors Corp. reported sales in the first half of 1947 were higher than at any time since 1936, with the exception of two war years.

The corporation listed net sales for the period as $1,746,421,483. Net income was reported as $147,622,834, equal to $3.20 a share on the common stock. This was exceeded only in 1943, when sales hit $3,732,000,000, and by 1944 figures of $4,201,000,000.

Passenger car and truck production during the six months totaled 257,371. The report said sales of products other than automobiles were higher in proportion to total sales in 1947.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Smart Set — Duchess at Work

By BETTY ALDEN

WORKING FOR A LIVING may be a new experience to members of the Hungarian royal family, like the Duchess photographed the other day waiting on table in Budapest. But for many years women in Boston's highest social circles have had careers in business because they enjoy being busy and out in the world.

It was patriotic to work during the war and many women who went into business then have shown such aptitude in various fields they have kept right on being wage earners.

Picking a few interesting careers at random we think of Becky Hobbs and Lavinia Sabine who have done such a fine job of managing the Theatre Guild subscription series here in Boston. And Mrs. Charles Higginson who has two attractive daughters of debutante age, broadcasts an interesting program on food and other household subjects.

Peppy, youthful, and a grandmother, Mrs. Nancy T. Whittier moved to Medfield during the war and heard of so many lovely estates being bought and sold that she went into business as a real estate agent. Mrs. W. Galbraithe Mitchell of Marblehead, mother of grown sons, has developed so much know-how about Chippendale, Sheraton, rare old glass and china from the collection of antiques in her own home that she has opened an antique shop in Swampscott.

Sarah Palfrey Cooke

Just to read "Anita Sturgis, Manchester, Mass.," in the social register you would never realize that she has one of the most responsible positions in banking of any woman in Boston, or that Isabel Porter whose social register address is Beverly Farms, is a top ranking landscape architect. During the war she was in the WAVES with the rank of full lieutenant and held down a responsible job in the Bureau of Ships in Washington.

In the world of authors Boston society women are represented by Sarah Palfrey Cooke, the tennis star; Henrietta Brace Sharon, whose book "It's Good to Be Alive," is a description of her experiences sketching veterans in military hospitals; Elizabeth Rhodes Jackson and Anne Hitchcock White, authors of children's stories, and many more.

Emily Garritt and Sally Delano, peppy young post debs, run the uptown branch of the store owned by Sally's dad, doing everything from keeping the books to selling neckties. Carol Prince and Betty Titcomb, whose families live on Beacon Hill, have gone to New York for their careers, Carol in radio advertising and Betty in interior decorating.

Joy Kimball operates like a one-woman employment agency in her very responsible job as head of the placement department of the Junior League. Her calls are from hospitals, settlement department houses and other agencies for volunteers to do anything from helping in the clinic to writing letters for patients and she sends League members best qualified for the work.

Train Decapitates Man Near Norwalk, Ct.

NORWALK, Ct., July 30 (AP)—An unidentified man was struck and decapitated by a Danbury-bound New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad passenger train about a mile from the South Norwalk station.

Norwalk police said it was evident no one on the train realized the man was struck since the train did not stop.

OPERATION FOR A DIME

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., July 30 (AP)—Dr. Eli B. Ives of the emergency hospital staff performed a 10-cent operation on David Mihalus, Jr., 9, when he removed a dime which the youngster had jammed into his right nostril.

Erases Lines Near Eyes

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

PITY THE POOR EYES come fall. They will have to do some fancy tricks under those fancy hats aimed to make a grande dame out of you and me. This is the year when that tried but true phrase "the new you" comes into its own.

DON'T BEAT the drum of despair because . . . facially speaking . . . you can't wear this nifty Irene-designed drum beret of brown felt, swathed in brown veiling, with bands of tangerine and moss green velvet ribbon gleaming through. If your heart craves it . . . fix the face . . . especially the frank frames of the eyes . . . so it will carry you off with fashionable and beautiful distinction.

You and you and you . . . and even I . . . will be NEW from head to foot with a different look . . . and no doubt a changed outlook on life. So much feminine softness in clothes and hats will surely have a telling impact upon personality. The idea of the new hats is to echo the lavishness of fuller, longer skirts . . . to balance sloping shoulders and rounded hips . . . to make you ever conscious of the perfection . . . or lack of it . . . of your face.

Whether your hat rides high on your head . . . or low on your forehead . . . the eyes must tell a knowing story of what the whole fashion picture is all about. There is no place for the sleepy-eyed gal . . . no second glance for the tired, weary-eyed miss . . . no recognition for the woman whose orbs are framed in accordion pleats.

Whether you want to or not . . . this fall you'll have to make the most of your femininity or be completely lost in the shuffle . . . heaven forbid. Today you are a sun worshipper . . . lolling around on sandy beaches with nary a care about the texture of the skin or the sun in your eyes, perhaps. Come fall . . . those orbs better have stardust, instead.

PROTECTS EYE AREA

So before you develop a healthy crop of squint lines where they won't do your face any good . . . and ruin the outlook from under that top-look . . . give the eyes a break and treat their enveloping and delicate tissue to a preventive cream that will keep them ever soft and lovely. Let's not say we don't care. If you are a woman . . . you do . . . and let's be honest!

So while sun rays can be beneficial and do help your color . . . be cautious especially with the area surrounding your eyes . . . your-eyes-are-your-facial-fortune-for-fall-feature . . . It is in these sensitive sections the lines first turn up and settle into permanent little grooves if not thwarted and defeated. A very fine rich cream prepared particularly for lubricating the skin around the eyes . . . can be your saving grace. It takes just a moment to smooth it on . . . and be patted ever so lightly with fingertips . . . under the eyes, up, around and over the lids.

For extra lubrication . . . leave it on overnight. But use it . . . whenever possible . . . on the beach . . . in the quiet of your home . . . while playing bridge . . . and while slumbering.

For the name of this very rich, wonderful eye cream combatant to lines, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, any day except week-end, or write to me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LAVISH but lovely is this afternoon costume by Brownie . . . combining a beige woolen dress and a matching stole edged with mink tails . . . plenty of them, too. The dress, hip-accented with fluid folds of fabric swirling from a tuck . . . holds the eye, also, at the neckline with its bow-tied collared yoke, and all the way down the buttoned front. And the flat bat pouted-crown hat is one of fall's newest.—R. M.

Serve Vegetables, Fruit Raw

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

ARE YOU FINDING IT DIFFICULT to plan meals these days? Then consider the fresh fruits and vegetables now available in the market, for their varied textures, flavors and bright colors have much to offer in the way of appetite and eye appeal. And these are the two important factors, you know, that offer nutrition to your family.

For crisp texture and the most vitamin C, serve vegetables and fruits raw frequently. To keep colors bright—and to conserve vitamins—cook vegetables just till tender, and serve at once. Vegetables cooked to a dingy brown mush are ugly and retain little food value.

FOR CONTRAST

In planning meals, try to work out interesting contrasts—crisp cabbage slaw with baked beans, crunchy toast with soup, chopped celery with peanut butter as a sandwich filling. Avoid serving all watery vegetables at a meal or more than one starchy vegetable. In a vegetable plate dinner it is often a good idea to fry or scallop one vegetable, or make it into fritters or croquettes, to provide rich flavor, crisp texture, and stick-to-the-ribs satisfaction.

Garnishes give foods eye appeal and flavor accent: parsley, watercress, green pepper, pickle, a dash of paprika. But make the color of the foods themselves contribute like the bright crimson of tomatoes on a cool bed of salad greens.

Picture instead the attractive gold and green color scheme of this menu:

MENU

Cheese Souffle
Broccoli or Snap Beans
Parsley Potatoes
Raw Carrot Sticks
Whole Wheat Muffins
Marmalade
Fruit Cup
Milk

This menu offers appetizing contrasts: crisp carrot sticks to fluffy souffle, tart fruit cup to bland potatoes. Most important, it adds up nutritionally to a well balanced meal.

CHEESE SOUFFLE

¼ cup butter or margarine
⅓ cup flour
1 cup milk
1 cup grated American cheese
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. paprika
½ tsp. mustard
4 eggs, separated

Melt butter and stir in flour; gradually add milk and cook about 5 minutes, stirring constantly until mixture thickens; add cheese and seasonings, stirring until it is melted, and remove from heat. Gradually stir in well beaten egg yolks and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites; turn into greased casserole or baking dish and put in pan of hot water; bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 50 to 60 minutes, or until delicately browned and firm to touch.

WHOLE WHEAT MUFFINS

1 cup sifted white flour
1 cup whole wheat or graham flour, unsifted
3 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
3 tbsp. brown sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
3 tbsp. shortening, melted

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add unsifted whole wheat or graham flour. Combine egg, milk and shortening and add to flour mixture, stirring only until mixed. Use tablespoon to dip batter into greased muffin pans and fill them 2-3 full. Bake in hot oven (425 deg. F.) for 20 to 30 minutes, according to size of muffin. Makes 14 medium-sized muffins.

INTRODUCTION IS IN ORDER! You remember to introduce adult guests in your home. Show children the same courtesy. It's unconsiderate to let a child join a group of other youngesters without a word of introduction.

Variegated Motif

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

GEOMETRY may not have been your pet subject in school but applied geometry in the shape of precisely-patterned silk will be one of your fashion loves this winter. These heavy silks, dark and richly colored, patterned in tiny, variegated motifs, make important dresses and suits, the kind of blue-ribbon fashions that have entree everywhere.

Charles Armour uses one of these silks in a masterfully tailored suit. The fabric, imported from Italy, is marked with a tiny geometrical pattern in such shades of green, deep red and white that it seems to shimmer. The play of light on the many-colored motifs makes the material appear irridescent.

The suit itself is made on long lines with nothing in the way of decoration to detract from the importance of the material. The jacket, which buttons up the front and finishes at the neck with a little round collar, is molded through the waist and softly curved and rounded over the hips. The skirt is slim and tightly fitted.

New Music Machine in Festival Debut

By LEO GAFFNEY

LENOX—A new talking machine for the home made its debut here last night at the Berkshire music festival in Tanglewood, where Serge Koussevitzky and the Boston Symphony Orchestra introduced it in the 6000-seat music shed amid tumultuous cheers.

The orchestra was in the middle of Beethoven's overture to "Egmont." The eloquent left hand of the famous conductor slowly drifted down to his side. The most sensitive orchestra in the world imperceptibly subsided, while from behind some drapes back of the band in the center of the stage another musical instrument, just as imperceptibly, took up the sonorous relay.

COULDN'T TELL

But the transition had been made before the audience became aware. The orchestra had stopped and the new talking machine had begun. It was then that, dramatically, the drapes fell away and the new RCA Victor reproducing machine was unveiled.

None could tell at the precise moment when the orchestra had left off playing and where the reproducing machine had begun.

Because the Boston orchestra is and has been the pioneer band in the development of phonograph record making, the Victor people are partial to it. They have named their new machine the Berkshire, after the orchestra's famous summer home, the place of its debut.

Although designed for the home, the Berkshire can hardly promise to be immediately popular, for it seems that the magnificent device heard here last night for the first time will retail for about $4000. A limited few are available on a subscription basis. Buy one—if you've got the four thousand and a good piece of your check will furnish a scholarship to some deserving student at the Berkshire music school.

COMPLETE UNIT

The Berkshire is a complete reproducing unit—radio, phonograph, television. Both F. M. and A. M., its tone control ranges from 30 to more than 15,000 cycles, a marvel in frequencies.

The loudspeaker area from the outside has a surface volume of about 14,000 square inches. The television screen is about the size of two pages of this newspaper. Here in the shed tonight its volume of tone is of course not equal to a 125 piece symphonic orchestra, but in anybody's house it is bound to be all you can stand.

As a piece of furniture, the $4000 beauty is of course most impressive. It stands seven feet high, six wide. It will also contain all the records you've got and a sizeable library of books and catalogues.

The celebration here tonight was all part of the "new horizons in music." New horizons is right when you remember the progress from the old screech boxes, up to the orthophonic, through to the new miracle of electronics called the Berkshire.

As doubtless you have heard, the postwar developments in this field are amazing. The Berkshire seems to have all of them. It is a revelation. Soon its precious new features should be available to more commonplace pocketbooks.

Chaplains Pay Tribute To 'Fighting Parson'

CARLISLE, Pa., July 30 (AP)—Chaplain John Steel, "Fighting Parson" of the Colonial Indian Wars, was honored by Army chaplains at a special retreat formation at Steel's grave in old National Graveyard here.

Chaplains of four faiths—Lutheran, Evangelical United Brethren, Roman Catholic and Jewish—joined in exercises commemorating the 172nd birthday of the U. S. Army Corps of Chaplains, established in 1775 by a resolution of the Continental Congress.

Seats on Sale for Last Of Wellesley Plays

Seats are now on sale for the balance of the Wellesley Summer Theater's season in Alumnae Hall on the Wellesley College campus. There are still many good seats available for the remaining performance of "Dear Ruth," the current Joyce Van Patten-starring production.

Buddy Ebsen, in "The Male Animal," is set for next week, beginning Tuesday, to be followed the week commencing Aug. 12 with Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness!" starring Bert Lytell.

FINAL AT COHASSET

Final production of the South Shore Players' season in Cohasset will be the Miriam Hopkins-starring "There's Always Juliet," which has been booked into Town Hall for the week beginning Monday, August 25.

Arlen Substitutes Play for N. E. Mutual

With casting difficulties interfering with his touring "State of the Union" on the summer circuit, Hollywood's Richard Arlen was forced to substitute "The Man in Possession" as his starring vehicle at New England Mutual Hall this week.

This is the H. M Harwood comedy in which Leslie Banks and Isabel Jeans co-starred in 1931. Later Robert Montgomery and a charmer whose name escapes me were co-starred in it, participating in a memorably cov interlude having to do with an indoor "picnic" on the staircase.

The present Boston Summer Theatre production passes up this [illegible] which is not to say that it is totally without archness. No, indeedy, as the nicey-nice girl in Helen Hayes' "Happy Birthday" says, Arlen, who has a likable, masculine presence and clicked on first sight with the audience, is permitted to be arch, coy, cute.

The play isn't any great shakes, but it would seem that the light touch is its only excuse for being presented. Frankly, Lee Falk's direction did not help it or, specifically, Arlen, whose long absence from the theater finds him vulnerable without a strong assist from a director.

Pretty Jane Middleton, who prepped in the summer theaters before negotiating Broadway (she was seen in the unanimously panned James Mason—starring "Bathsheba") the past season, made a happier adjustment as the insolvent Mrs. Wetherby.

Arlen's presidential candidate in "State of the Union," favorably received last week at the Wellesley Summer Theater, will next be on view at Cohasset. Following this week's run in Boston, Arlen will take "The Man in Possession" to the Cambridge Summer Theater for a week. P. D.

U. S. Hits Bottom In Passenger Ships

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—J. Lewis Luckenbach, president of the American Bureau of Shipping, said the United States passenger ship fleet now is "at its lowest ebb since the end of World War I."

Addressing a meeting of the bureau, Luckenbach urged the American government to "extend considerable aid to re-establish passenger ship service."

Wonder Horse Stymie, Heavy Laden Favorite

By AUSTEN LAKE

THE ATHLETIC STEEDS which are being called upon to give their utmost in wind and limb in today's Massachusetts Handicap spent last night amid mystery and suspicion which compares with the general character of a heavyweight fight camp on the eve of the big business.

Beyond the infield with its sweet profusion of petunias, marigolds and columbine lay Suffolk Downs' low roofed barns where the royal dobbins were ringed about with enough metropolitan tailmen and guardhouse watchmen to bust a dock strike, thick men with muscular jaws and shoulders suggestive of loaves of rye bread.

Only by written consent, properly endorsed by the commanding watchman, might one pass the skirmish lines and meander along the dirt alleys between the quarantined stables. And always as one moved eyes followed furtively beneath hat brims and words, harsh as a dog's snarl, warned you when you were within peanut chucking distance of the patrician giddyaps. The heavy guard against possible poisoners, mutilation and the sinister tricks known to low-life characters who might like to turn a smart dollar, implies that Man is not bred with the same careful regard for honesty as the Horse.

Stymie, the Golden Midget

PAMPERED DARLING OF the Handicap bettors, Stymie, was in a cell near the center of the horse park. And lest anyone might wish to insert a shovelful of distress into Stymie's bran and give the hoss a large ache in its equatorial region, only the closest intimates of Hirsch Jacob's barn family were permitted to bring in carrot greens, timothy hay, or hoist drinking pails into the stall.

A wire screen, meshed finely enough to restrain a creeping mouse, was swung across the face of the cubicle and always, until the padlock clicked back into place, the guardsmen watched this equine nugget whose earnings to date are $678,510.

Being dumb, though this is not to disparage their intelligence as less than the surrounding people, the horse aristocrats carry on their training and loafing free of the strains which their human prototypes are subject to in similar times. They are not troubled by autograph hunters or compelled to wrap their pen hands in fake bandages as Joe Louis once did when his signature-work threatened to consume his time and energies from sparring. They are never asked to make speeches or endorse cigarets and breakfast foods. They never have any fake newspaper or magazine articles ghosted for them.

They train briefly in the morning dew while the first pinks of early morning are in the sky and with a polite crowd of clockers peering from a distance. And when they are through they melt back to the barns to nuzzle the woodwork and throw their brown, liquid eyes at the pretty filly, third from the left in the stalls across the road.

The wisemen say that Stymie can't be licked and that by 6:07 D. S. T. it will have boosted its money take to more than $700,000, or around the original cost of Suffolk Down's land. Yet nothing in sport is so uncertain as a sure thing and I have in mind the day that Discovery blew the bundle before 45,200 people, folk from every walk of living—wisemen with watery leers, pop-eyed juveniles, lipstick ladies, muslin molls, male mannequins and that great sovereign body of middle class America—Mr. and Mrs. Two Bucks. That was a sure thing too!

No Sure Thing in Racing

WHAT HAPPENED IS AN indelible scar on my memory; how the gilded giddyap coasted past the grandstand with plenty of fresh air and freeboard on its flanks. And how at the first corner a sound like the winter wind through the apple orchard rose from the crowd as Discovery got pinched on the rail by a hoss named Clang, the roughneck of the party. Then the worst happened.

From that moment Ole Diz decided he was in ruffian company, unfit for his refined nature. So he whoaed down to have a good pout in the rear. Yes! He gentled down the rest of the way like a daddy giving his baby boy a bedtime piggy back, while thousands of his backers reached for their scalps and began yanking themselves bald, especially the New York delegation of dime pickers who had come north to get a safe 10 per cent on their capital by betting Dizzy to show—as they will be doing today on Stymie.

Many a stout heart was heard to bust in that final ride and that night, by the pale moonlight, the visiting gentry could be seen mooching suppers from the neighboring gardens, sleeping in haystacks and preparing to ride home on the freight couplings.

Horse scholars like Dave Wilson say Stymie is a happy dispositioned beast with somewhat the same temperament of Gil Dodds, the parson miler. They also say that Stymie will be hauling a heavy load of lead in his saddle bags, 128 pounds in all with his monkey man, Con McCreary. They speak of Blue Yonder and Elpis as having a fondness for the Suffolk track. Both are in the moderately high money brackets and both are solid clippity-clops capable of giving the heavy laden Stymie a tail end view. Anything can happen in a horse race. Be seein' yuh at 6:05!

Stymie Looms as Heaviest Choice in Mass. 'Cap History

By DAVE WILSON

Stymie, the rags-to-riches colt which was claimed for a paltry $1500 by Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs and then went on to become the world's largest money-winning thoroughbred with a total of $678,510, is expected to rule a near-prohibitive favorite over a half dozen or fewer rivals for today's running of the $50,000 added Massachusetts Handicap.

Although carrying top weight in the field, at 128 pounds, the 6-year-old son of Equestrian is expected to rule one of the shortest, if not the shortest priced choices in the 12-year history of the New England classic. This somewhat dubious honor is held by Samuel D. Riddle's War Admiral which finished fourth at 2-to-5 in the 1938 renewal.

Few handicappers, if any, are predicting anything but a cakewalk to the lion's share of the 50 grand purse for the Jacobs champ which drew the plaudits of the nation only Saturday a week ago at Belmont Park by his spectacular stretch run to victory in the greatest international horse race of the postwar era—the $100,000 Gold Cup.

BULLETIN

Stymie was an opening line choice at 2 to 5 at Suffolk this afternoon at Suffolk for the Mass. Cap, Blue Yonder at 5-1 and Agrarian U at 6-1 were next in the odds.

TWO IMPRESSIVE WINS

Mrs. E. H. Augustus' Blue Yonder could be a surprise package in the field, if there is going to be one. The four-year-old chestnut colt by Ariel-Reighzelle has always liked the Suffolk Downs track. A year ago as a three-year-old, he was out of the money but once in eight starts and won four times, earning $24,355.

Blue Yonder has registered two impressive victories during the present Suffolk meeting. Last season, his only visit to the post here, was in the Yankee Handicap in which he finished second to Mrs. Axel Wichfeld's Cable. The colt has trained impressively, under the supervision of young Jim Radney, and will have 17 pounds advantage on Stymie. Chris Rogers will ride him.

Another starter who has shown a great liking for the Suffolk Downs strip is William Helis' stout-hearted mare Elpis which has won the Hannah Dustin Handicap in three successive years and has earned $144,025 in three years of campaigning. Elpis in with 111 pounds, is a consistent performer, having been out of the money only seven times in 34 starts, and this year has won four stakes with a total value of $76,250. Frank Moon will be in the saddle.

These two, Blue Yonder and Elpis, are the starters most favored to give Stymie trouble.

Agrarian-U is an unknown quantity going over a distance. The New England sprint champion, however scored very impressively in his last six furlongs race to indicate he may be able to carry that speed the added distance of three furlongs.

NEW ENGLAND OWNED

Agrarian-U will have a very capable boy riding him in Fernando Fernandez, and the 108 pounds is the lightest that he has had on his back in a long time.

Brookmeade's Stable's Boss, unlucky in his effort in the North Shore Handicap last Saturday, will benefit from that race and may loom as the dark horse under the clever handling of Job Dean Jessop.

Weathercock is the only New England owned horse in the race and has in back of him a victory in the Governor's Handicap at Narragansett, June 14.

WINNERS—Mickey Harris, Red Sox ailing pitcher, holds aloft the hands of Harry Agganis (left) and Walter "Huck" Keany, All-Scholastic athletes from Lynn Classical and Dedham High schools respectively, as winners of the Hearst New England sandlot final at Fenway Park. Both will play in the Hearst National game at the Polo Grounds next month. American-Record Photo by Art Howard

Agannis, Keany Chosen N. E. Sandlot Champs

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

The two broadest smiles in New England today are on the tanned faces of Harry Agganis, Lynn Classical first baseman and Walter Keany, Dedham High third baseman.

Harry and Walter won distinction yesterday at Fenway Park as they competed with 28 other N. E. athletes in the Hearst New England Sandlot baseball finals.

The best in baseball minds watched the Fenway Park nine inning game between the two teams of Hearst sandlotters and later at a dinner at the Somerset came to the conclusion that Agganis and Keany were the two "most outstanding ball players on the field."

Agganis and Keany, acknowledged to be the two foremost ball players in New England will make the seven-day, expense-free trip to New York for the National Hearst Sandlot Baseball final. The boys leave Boston on August 7. The ball game will be played at the Polo Grounds on August 13. The boys return home on August 15.

Harry Agganis is a fine type of athlete. The six-foot, 185-pounder, who lives at 118 Walterhill st., West Lynn, has proven himself to be one of the foremost athletes in New England although he still has one year to go in high school.

.450 BATTING AVERAGE

As a sophomore Harry hit .450 for Lynn Classical. As a junior he slipped to .333 but was the inspiration which led Classical to the State baseball championship.

He was a unanimous All-Scholastic in both football (quarterback) and basketball (center) as well as baseball (first baseman).

Walter Keany, 18, 130 High st., Dedham, is a 5 ft. 11 in., 186 pound third sacker who shows promise of going a long way in big time baseball.

Bill Barrett, famous Red Sox scout, who managed one of the Sandlot teams, was especially impressed by Keany's power hitting and strong arm.

In three years with Dedham High, Walter "Huck" Keany has hit for .311, .315, and last spring for .460.

Last year, as a football fullback, "Huck" played opposite Agganis in a post season meeting of the All-Scholastic teams. "Huck" was a guard on the basketball team for two years.

The Hearst Sandlot baseball trials have been conducted throughout New England for the past eight weeks. Over 2100 amateur baseball players, under 19 years of age, competed.

Claude Davidson, the president of the New England League, acting for no other interest except a true love of boseball, gave countless hours of his time to send sandlotters through their trials.

Among umpires who gave their time to the sandlotters were: Joe Papparella, Jim Hurley, Bill Summers and Joe Rue.

THANKS SOX OFFICIALS

The Hearst papers especially wish to extend an expression of profound gratitude to the officials of the Red Sox organization; to Tom Yawkey for arranging the site of the Hearst final; to Eddie Doherty for aiding with the countless details; to Joe Cronin for managing one of the Sandlot teams; to Mickey "Himself" Harriss for speaking at the Sandlot dinner and to every other member of the organization who aided in any way.

Radio Phone Aids Murray to Boss Track From Boat

By JACK CONWAY

THE MARIANEL II ARRIVED off the South Shore while its owner, Russ Murray, used a radio phone to direct the operation of the Raynham dog track. Calls were put through the marine radio-phone station.

"When I'm on my boat the phone keeps me in contact with everything at Raynham," said Murray.

Murray was frank in answering questions about greyhound racing.

"I am satisfied, although the mutuel handle is off at horse and dog tracks," said Russ, "as long as the attendance holds up. The big drop in betting is in the $100, $50 and $10 windows.

"We never had as many big bettors as some of the other tracks. Our handle was chiefly at the $5 and $2 windows. That is healthier for a track and also for the public as nobody gets hurt too much."

Mickey McQuire, 17-year-old lightweight, strolled along the deck.

"Sea air is good for a boxer," declared Mickey, "but I hope I don't eat my way into the welter division."

"Boxing still is one of my favorite sports," declared Murray. "With no real opposition in sight, Joe Louis should retire undefeated next year."

"What is the greatest greyhound you have seen run?" we queried.

"Flashy Sir," was the answer. "This dog has amazing ability and has repeatedly proved his class."

MURRAY BELIEVES RACES should be arranged between star greyhounds of rival tracks.

"I have cabled an offer to bring the winner of the British Derby here, but I still believe contests between local rivals would prove more interesting to our public."

Murray declared the infield of the Raynham dog track has been filled in and graded so it can be used as a football field.

"The field will be available to any of the nearby high school or town teams that wish to use it," asserted Russ. "Proper athletic facilities help reduce juvenile delinquency."

"There is little chance of 'fixing' a dog race due to the lack of the human element," said Murray.

"The greyhound will run as fast as it is able," he declared. "The state takes control of the dogs at 6 p. m. Even if an owner did give a drug to a greyhound the effects would have worn off by race time.

"We take tests on the dogs for stimulants and are always doing research work to keep up with unscrupulous trainers.

MURRAY WAS GENERAL MANAGER of Wonderland Park when greyhound racing was first introduced in Massachusetts.

"We were under a lot of fire in those days," said Murray. "It was openly charged that dog racing was controlled by racketeers. This may have been true in the days of outlaw tracks, but such never was the case in Massachusetts. We now have people working at Raynham Park who would not even be seen at a dog track a dozen years ago."

"Dog tracks are very profitable, for the associations and for the state. You may be sure everything possible will be done to keep the sport on the highest possible plane."

The radio on the boat picked up some baseball news.

"What do you think of the Red Sox and the Braves?" I asked.

"The Sox, other than during spurts, have lacked their old fire this year," said Russ. "They have not possessed the terrific drive that enabled them to win the pennant a year ago.

"Joe Cronin's club has had many injuries and this has not helped.

"The Braves do not possess as many stars as the Red Sox, but the club has been playing heads up baseball all the time."

RUSS RATES THE YANKS up with Flashy Sir and figures the Cardinals have a good chance to overtake the Dodgers in the National League race.

As we talked the Marianel II poked its nose against the dock of the Scituate Harbor Yacht Club.

Murray said before we parted that he would stage six nights of charity racing under the direction of the Bristol County Charity Foundation.

"The money will go to veterans' organizations, and to leading charities," declared Murray. "One of the pleasing things about owning a dog track is that one can do a lot of good with it."

Murray is a wounded veteran of World War I and the problems of the serviceman are very close to him.

Brooklyn Resounds With 'We're In'

Flatbush faithful today were falling all over themselves in their haste to order World Series tickets, according to the Associated Press. There is hardly a soul in Brooklyn now who has any doubt over the Dodgers' participation in the October classic.

From Ebbets Field to Greenpoint to Canarsie to Coney Island and all along Belt Parkway, frenzied Flatbush followers were screeching at the top of their voices, "We're in, we're in. Bring on those Yankees!"

They had plenty to support their contention. For last night, the Brooks whipped the Cardinals in what was the key game of the 1947 season thus far. The score was 4-0.

Here is what yesterday's victory meant to the Dodgers.

First and most important, it increased their National League lead over the runner-up Redbirds to eight full games, the biggest margin Brooklyn has enjoyed this year.

Second, it stretched their current victory string to 11 straight, the highest streak in the league this season.

Third, it ended all St. Louis hopes of a sweep of the "crucial" three-game set which the Cards felt would have demoralized the Dodgers.

Fourth, it halted a St. Louis victory march which had brought the Cards seven wins in their last eight games besides ending a four-game Redbird winning streak over Brooklyn at Sportsman's Park.

The Giants remained in third place nine games behind first when they nipped Cincinnati, 2-1. Held to two hits for six innings, the Cubs broke loose with a five-run attack in the seventh to defeat Philadelphia, 5-4.

The A's continued their winning ways by outscoring the White Sox, 5-2, at Philadelphia.

Sam Zoldak coasted to his fourth win of the season, his third over Washington, as the Browns walloped the Senators 8-2.

3 Springfield Golfers In Hearst Title Race

By BILL GRIMES

Tommy Fillmore, pro at the Springfield Country Club is entitled to take a bow. He's the party that made it possible for three youngsters from the Springfield district being in the semi-finals of the Hearst New England Junior championship today at the Woodland Golf Club.

A year ago, during the Mass. open championship at the Longmeadow Country Club, Fillmore introduced the writer to Bob Marchese, a 17-year-old junior member of his club.

LOST TO RILEY

Marchese agreed to enter the Hearst. He qualified at Wachusett but was beaten in the second round of match play at Woodland by Jack Riley, Pawtucket. Then, the writer entered Marchese in the state juniors but again the Springfield boy fell by the wayside during match play.

Bob Marchese was back at Wachusett again this year for the Hearst. And, he brought with him a 15-year-old kid from the Springfield Municipal course. They both qualified, as did Bill Roberts, a South Hadley boy.

Bill Roberts reached the semi-finals in the state juniors. He was eliminated by Jackie Nies, who, then, beat Bob Marchese for the title two weeks ago at the Worcester Country Club.

Marchese, Roberts and Grochmal checked in at the Woodland Golf Club last Sunday. They played a practice round that afternoon. On Monday, they began their drives to the semi-finals.

Marchese and Roberts were among the top ranking favorites to win a free trip to Los Angeles and play in the second annual Hearst National Junior Championship at the California County Club.

LITTLE JOE TRIUMPHS

But, Joe Grochmal was an unknown. Bob Marchese predicted that Little Joe would do well in the Hearst. But, to be frank the writer didn't figure Grochmal would get by Tom Hovey, Worcester, his first round opponent. But, Little Joe knocked off the Worcesterite 2 and 1.

Then, he pinned a 6 and 5 defeat on Danny Magiera, W. Warwick, R. I., in the second round and wound up in the semi-finals by eliminating Jackie Nies, Jr., United Shoe, the state junior titleholder.

Bob Marchese took the measures of Larry Warren, Woburn, Dick Costello, United Shoe and Dick Crosby, Albermarle, while on his way to the semi-finals, while Bill Roberts beat Bob Magee, Charles River, Jimmy Quinn, Kernwood (at the 19th hole) and Bernie Fauteux, New Bedford. In his quarter final round against Fauteux, Roberts carded a two under par 69, despite a double bogey at the short 15th hole.

The Springfield district will have at least one representative in the Hearst Nationals at Los Angeles, for Bill Roberts and Joe Grochmal are playing the semi-finals this morning. In the lower half of the draw Ralph Jenkins, who numbers Bob Wallace, Unicorn, Tom Mahan, Jr., United Shoe and Don Hoenig, Putnam, Ct. as his early round victims, is out with Bob Marchese.

Ralph Jenkins was beaten in the finals of the Hearst New England junior championship a year ago by Vin Moran.

Jamaica Pond Anglers Form 'Let-Go' Club

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

A group of local anglers, all of whom do considerable fishing in nearby Jamaica Pond, have recently formed a worthwhile organization called the "Jamaica Pond One-That-Was-Let-Go Club," in an effort to insure future sport during these days when everyone seems obsessed with the thought of taking limit catches.

Here is a list of the members, plus the number of fish they have each caught, the second figures after the names indicating those kept:

Allan Curtis, Sr., 106-0; Allan Curtis, Jr. 136-10; John Curtis, 14-0; Frank Rines, 38-4; Norman Rines, 4-0; Joseph Keefe, 130-10; Lea Roberts, 26-7, "Happy" Day, 15-0; Henry Drake, 7-3; Joseph Conlon, 20-8; Billy Conlon, 3-0; Mike Walsh, 15-3; Charles Duplain, 4-0; Bill Eyford, 1-1; George Champlain 11-1, and Henry Champlain, 1-1.

Thus 15 sportsmen have taken a total of 536 fish from Jamaica Pond this season, and have released all but 48 of the finny folk.

And here are some more interesting facts about the club: Every trout hooked was better than 14 inches in length, many going as large as 20 to 24 inches . . . Allan Curtis, Jr., caught and released an eight-pound salmon, in addition to his trout, as well as several bag limits of black bass. One of the latter was a 22-inch, 6½-pound smallmouth . . . The best trout to date was a 28-inch, 7-pound laker; and the best salmon weighed 10 pounds, 3 ounces, measuring 32 inches in length.

Jamaica Pond and other local waters are often overlooked by anglers, who return with empty creels on many occasions from those long trips . . . Black bass and white perch are hitting well now in Sunset Lake, Braintree; the bass are striking at the Braintree Dam, too, we are told . . . Fair fishing can also be found at Walden Pond, Concord; Horn Pond, Woburn; and Long-Sought-For Pond, Westford . . . Don't say we didn't tell you!

Nies' Nemesis Seen Hearst Title Threat

By BILL CONWAY

John P. Corcoran, brother of Freddie, the P. G. A. publicity director, put in an appearance at Woodland yesterday for the N. E. Junior golf tournament. Johnny praised the future "champs" highly for their splendid competitive spirit and links ability.

Fifteen-year-old Joe Grochmal, of the Springfield Memorial course continued to play coolly as he sailed over favored Johnny Nies of United Shoe in the quarter finals yesterday afternoon.

Joe was presented with a set of Burque irons after setting down Joe Magiera 6 and 5 in the morning round which was hotly contested for 22 holes. The irons were donated by Larry Bove.

Jackie Nies' drive into the woods at the 16th eliminated his prospects for the semi-finals . . . His second shot caromed off the trees and he finally was on the fairway in 3 while Grochmal was on the green in two from where he two-putted for his par and the match.

Joe Grochmal, making his first appearance in a championship tournament, attributes his sparkling golf to tow-headed Jimmy Dunleavey of Auburndale, who enthusiastically carried the Springfield youth's clubs in the match . . . Joe who doesn't claim to be superstitious would rub his hand through Jimmie's red hair prior to putting.

Bill Roberts of The Orchards carded a brilliant 69 in the quarter-finals for a two under par, which is the best round in the tournament to date . . . Roberts set down Bernie Fauteux of Paskamansett, 2 and 1, in the match.

Mrs. Kay Stammers Menzies leads the British continental which includes also Betty Hilton, Joy Gannon, Jean Quertier and Molly Blair. Mrs. Jean Nicoll Bostock, the other member of the team will not arrive in the United States until later.

Shirley Fry of Akron, O., will defend the cup she won last year.

Hank Greenberg on Bench; Row With Pilot Reported

By JIMMY JORDAN

PITTSBURGH, July 30 (INS)—The Hank Greenberg rumor factory hit a new high today. Now, the big guy from Detroit is accused—according to the rumor—of tiffing with manager Billy Herman of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and with being benched, thereby.

The big fellow who mysteriously wound up with the Pirates last winter has, in succession, been charged with:

1—A clubhouse fight with a teammate.

2—Causing dissension with a team floundering around in seventh and eighth place in the National League.

3—Quitting the team because of a self-assumed sore elbow.

4—Earning $110,000 annually as a ball player, and playing with fellows earning $10,000 or less.

Last night, both before and during the game in which the Pirates beat the fourth-place Braves, 6-5, Greenberg and Herman sat side by side in the dugout.

Since big Hank was purchased by Pittsburgh from Detroit for a reputed $50,000 last January, his story really has been asaga of major league baseball rumor.

Rumors have followed him constantly since he changed his mind out not playing this season, and finally signed.

There were stories about him buying the Athletics, about buying a Pacific Coast League team, and others.

Hank hasn't been hitting. He was benched at his own request the past three games. Herman said so. So did reenberg.

G Dissention? Ask Al Schlensker, assistant vice-president of the Bucs. He'll tell you:

"If reenberg never gets a hit if he nGever draws a fan into the park, he'll earn every nickel he's cost the Pirates by the player he's made of iner. We'd like to keep him around."

B's Hurlers Hit Skids

PITTSBURGH, July 30—Red Barrett and Ed Wright were set to oppose the Pirates in a dual bill this afternoon as the skidding Braves continued what could easily be a ruot in view of the crippled condition of Billy Southworth's slab staff. Kirby Higbe and Preacher Roe were primed to heckle the Braves in the weekday double bill on the heels of last night's hot conflict.

Southworth's hustlers never could quite catch up with the Pirates as the lost, 6 to 5, before more than 20,000 fans last night, but they made a heroic fight and had the tying and winning markers on the sacks when Jim Russell sprinted about 400 feet from the plate to haul in Johnny Hopp's long smash that could have been the pay ball for the Tribe had Russell faltered.

The Pirates shelled Bill Voiselle off the hill in the third round as they made four runs. Walter Lanfranconi relieving, although the youngster has been ill for two days. Karl and Johnson also were called on in the lost cause game. Ernie Bonham was solved for 10 hits, but he finished and won his ninth game for the Bucs who reached the Boston hurlers for 15 safeties.

Wally Westlake's infield tap at the start of the home half of the second inning led to a tie. Wally stole second with Jimmy Bloodworth at bat, but Voiselle fanned Jimmy and made Kluttz fly out. Bonham then pushed a little single over second and scored Westlake.

Lesnevich, Mauriello In Non-Title Battle

BROOKLYN, July 30 (AP)—Gus Lesnevich, light heavy champ who seems to improve with age, and Tami Mauriello clash tonight in a nontitle 10-rounder at Ebbetts Field with charity a certain winner and with the victor facing a possible quickie with Joe Louis later on in the year.

Some 25,000 fans are expected to pass the turnstiles for this lone big outdoor show of the season here and a gate of around $125,000 is predicted.

Black Faces Red Sox Under Lights

By FRED HOEY

Don Black and his bewildering stuff will be the next opponent on the program to face the Red Sox tonight (8:30) as they tear into their second battle with the Cleveland Indians. Black, once discarded by Connie Mack as a washed-up pitcher, has come back a long way. Today, Don rates with the most feared of hurlers in the American League. He has the stuff, the ambition and the will to win which he lacked under the venerable Connie.

Opposing Black was Earl Johnson, the sturdy left hander who didn't do so well in his last start, but who still rates as a great pitcher.

When the Red Sox were stopped after winning seven straight, the Indians had to shoot Bob Feller in there to do the job. Bob grabbed the game, but he wasn't himself. He walked plenty and was reached for eight hits. Yet, with all the walks the Sox piled up, they failed to fashion base hits with them.

Johnny Pesky, as usual, was most effective against the fireballer, collecting three singles in five times up. Ted Williams collected only a single because the infield moved over on him. For the most part, Feller pitched to Ted, but the tall one wasn't himself at the plate. Now batting for .329 to Pesky's .312.

Jim Hegan, popular Lynn boy catching for the Indians, was forced to leave the game in the sixth when he was struck in the groin by a foul ball off Dom DiMaggio's bat. Jim was in great pain and had to give way to Al Lopez.

Dennie Galehouse didn't pitch a bad game for the Sox. His mates simply were not hitting behind him . . . Bill Summers was his usual self on balls and strikes . . . Believe it or not, a balk was called on Feller in the seventh. It helped to score the Sox' only run . . . when a game consumes 2 hours and 43 minutes, there is something wrong. The crowd sat through, but there is no excuse for a game to last this long . . . The crowd ran to 30,957, which shoots the home attendance to 874,620 . . . Winning pitchers against the Red Sox are Feller, Harder (2), Embree, Gromek and Gettell (1) . . . The game tonight will start at 8:30 . . . The Sox record in home night games is 4-3; on road 3-5.

Majeski Escapes Serious Injury

PHILADELPHIA, July 30 (AP)—Henry (Hank) Majeski, Athletics' third baseman, apparently escaped serious injury when he was felled by a pitched ball in last night's game with the White Sox, doctors at Graduate Hospital said today.

Majeski was struck on the back of the head as he failed to duck completely away from a high inside fast ball thrown by Earl Harrist in the fourth inning with the bases loaded.

Physicians at the hospital to which Majeski was removed on a stretcher said preliminary examination showed no serious damage

Lukachik, Ex-B. C. End, Signed by Grid Cards

CHICAGO, July 30 (AP)—The Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League have announced signing of three new players, halfback Jack Doolin, purchased from the New York Giants; halfback Russell (Brick) Bradford of Iowa Teachers' College and end Alex Lukachik of Boston College.

What the Stars Did

By the Associated Press

TED WILLIAMS, Red Sox—Filed to center, drew his 111th walk, bunted safely in the ninth against the shift as Bob Feller of the Indians downed the Sox 5-1.

JACKIE ROBINSON, Dodgers—Failed to hit safely in five times at bat against Murry Dickson and Ted Wilks of the Cards, dropping below the .300 mark as the Dodgers shut out St. Louis, 4-0.

LOU BOUDREAU, Indians—Doubled in the first inning to drive in the first run, flied out, grounded out and walked. Charged with an error in the eighth on Birdie Tebbetts' grounder when he threw too high on a force play.

ENOS SLAUGHTER, Cardinals—Got one of the Cards' three hits off Brooklyn's Harry Taylor, a single in four times at bat as the Dodgers won 4-0.

WALKER COOPER, Giants—Extended his consecutive hitting streak through 10 games with a single in four times at bat against Lefty Ken Raffensberger as the Giants defeated the Reds, 2-1.

(Joe DiMaggio, Yankees, did not play).

Champion Cerdan On Third Trip Here

PARIS, July 30 (AP)—Euro-Marcel Cerdan flew to Casablanca today for a last visit with his wife and two sons before making his third trip to the United States and what he hopes will be a crack at the world's championship crown that Rocky Graziano just took away from Tony Zale.

"There have been lots of offers from America," Joe Longan, who is to Paris what Mike Jacobs is to New York, said. "Marcel hasn't accepted anything, though, because what we really want is a go with Rocky either in the Garden or out in a nice park."

Joe got that anxious look in his eyes and you knew he was thinking about the beautiful song the cash registers would play if the two tough boys of the middleweight division weer ever carded to climb in the same ring and start leveling on each other.

On Marcels first trip to New York he took a decision from Georgie Abrams and the next time he knocked out Harold Greene.
